Famous Aviator, Victim of Crash Through Factory Roof, Rallies After Emergency Operation.

MECHANIC LEAPS AND SAVES LIFE

75 Workers Escape as Ship Falls Through Roof—Lindbergh Continues Stunning Thrills.

Municipal Airport, Cleveland, Aug. 29.—(United News)—Lady Mary Heath, famous Irish flier, lay unconscious tonight fighting for life in a hospital, the victim of a crash in which her plane dived through a factory on the east side of Cleveland.

Late tonight Lady Heath underwent an operation from which she rallied, although she remained unconscious. Her condition was reported at Lakeside hospital as "very critical, with a chance for recovery." An X-ray examination revealed her skull was fractured in two places. In addition, her head was lacerated and her body bruised.

The titled flier, who bore the reputation of being the best woman flyer at the national air races, was testing a new plane. She zipped over the one-story factory in a vertical bank—one of the kind she thrilled thousands with. Suddenly the ship dived through the roof, and imbedded itself in the floor.

Mechanic Escapes.

Erwin Kirk, a mechanic, riding with her, saw the danger and jumped free, landing uninjured on the roof. Peering through the jagged hole in the tin roof he saw Lady Heath pinned in the wreckage. He leaped the 20 feet through the hole and went to her aid.

Seventy-five workmen, astonished as the plane came crashing down over their heads, ran to help Kirk extricate Lady Heath. Only with difficulty were they able to untangle the straps, head back the cowl and drag her battered form from the wreckage.

Kirk's only injury was a torn right hand, received when he jumped to the aid of his pilot.

"I don't know how it happened," Kirk said. "We had just taken off. Something went wrong and I instinctively leaped. Then Lady Mary dived into the roof."

An ambulance speeded to the hospital with Lady Heath. Kirk poured some antiseptic on his wounded hand and went back to work, shaken and sorrowful.

It was assumed Lady Heath was testing the plane on vertical banks and then was unable to right it. She was flying at an altitude of about 60 feet, witnesses said.

Daring Racing.

Lady Heath's speedy flying in a women's race Tuesday caused a stir in the ranks of aviators. She cut within inches of the pylons that mark the three corners of the course. She placed second in the race to Mrs. Keith Miller, New Zealand, in a field that numbered the cream of the women derby fliers. It was said at the time Lady Heath would have won the race had her plane been as speedy as that of Mrs. Miller. She cut out a narrow plane at the last minute, when hers was damaged in taxiing across the field. Meanwhile, the air races went on although there was a subdued note among the women pilots who lined up their planes for another race. Lady Heath was to have flown with them.

They roared away in a "racehorse" start and clipped the pylons just as closely as they had Tuesday, when Lady Heath was pushing her ship to the utmost to take away their honors.

The race was won by Gladys O'Donnell, Long Beach, Cal., at an average speed of 137.6 miles an hour. Mrs. Louise Thaden, Pittsburgh, was second and Mrs. Blanche Noyes, Cleveland, was third. All of the participants were in the women's derby from Santa Monica, Cal. Ruth Nichols, Bryn Mawr, Pa.; Florence Barnes, San Marino, Cal.; and Edith Politz.

"Death Accidental," Held When Hubby Kills Wife's Lover

TEXARKANA, Texas, August 29.—(AP)—A man killed by a husband while paying attention to the latter's wife dies an "accidental death," Federal Judge W. L. Estes ruled today in an insanity case.

Mrs. Lettie Galloway, widow of a Laneville (Texas) physician, was awarded insurance of $25,450 against an insurance company, the case having been transferred here from Tyler, Tex.

Dr. Galloway was shot to death by Morgan Compton, testimony showed Dr. Galloway, who had been treating Mrs. Compton, had made improper advances. After a warning, the testimony showed, Dr. Galloway persisted in his advances, and Compton shot him fatally.

The defendant insurance company contended Dr. Galloway had been "sufficiently warned of his danger," and that he had been "imprudent in his conduct and therefore did not meet accidental death." The company contended Mrs. Galloway's claim to double indemnity insurance.

RAGSDALE, MOORE TO CONFER TODAY

All Indications Are That Differences Will Be Ironed Out and Moore Will Keep Post.

By HERMAN D. HANCOCK.

Every obstacle in the way of mending the breach over policies between Mayor I. N. Ragsdale and Wiley L. Moore, chairman of the councilmanic finance committee, will be bridged at a conference to be held at 9 o'clock this morning and Mr. Moore will retain his post as head of the committee, it was indicated Thursday following exchange of correspondence between the two officials.

The mayor received a letter from Mr. Moore Thursday outlining the conditions under which the latter would retain the post and withdraw his resignation, which was delivered to Mr. Ragsdale in a terse communication Tuesday morning. Mr. Ragsdale, in referring to the letter, stated "I shall be glad to cooperate with you to the fullest in all things which pertain to the good of our city."

Following receipt of Mr. Ragsdale's answer to his letter, Mr. Moore and the mayor arranged the conference for this morning.

Incidentally, the mayor "stand by" the chairman in his insistence that all matters of finance must pass through the committee before being acted on by the city council. Moore stated in his letter that unless such assurance is given "I have no alternative but to insist upon your acceptance of my resignation and your designation of a successor who is willing to assume a handicap, under which I can not, and will not, operate."

Predictions by council members that Moore would remain as chairman of the committee, the mayor wrote Mr. Moore in answer to his communication to the city's chief executive. "I was indeed sorry that this action (referring to Mr. Moore's resignation) was taken by you. Believing that you and I, being mutually interested in the welfare of Atlanta, could adjust matters so that you would withdraw your resignation and continue to serve in your present capacity."

Cause of Resignation.

Mr. Moore's resignation was precipitated when Mayor Ragsdale approved appropriation of about $32,000 for various improvements, sanctioned at the last meeting of council. The finance committee had asked the mayor to veto the allocations and send them back to the finance committee for consideration.

When Mr. Ragsdale failed to exercise his veto power, Mr. Moore sent his resignation, declaring that the mayor's action in approving the paper was an "open invitation to council to pass other measures without proper consideration and study of the finance committee."

He also contended that such a practice might force the city into debt and that he, as chairman of the finance committee, would be charged with the responsibility in the event such a thing occurred. He declared he was unwilling to remain at the helm of the committee without the fullest support of the mayor.

Predictions were that a peace pact will be signed this morning between the mayor and his finance committee chairman, and that harmony will prevail for the remainder of the year.

Letter of Mayor.

The mayor's letter to Councilman Moore follows:

"Hon. W. L. Moore, 140 Spring Street, S. W., Atlanta, Georgia.

"Dear Mr. Moore:

"Returning to my office August 27, I received a letter from you tendering your resignation as chairman of the finance committee of city council.

"I was indeed sorry that this action was taken by you and have withheld any action on my part until I could see and talk with you, believing that you and I, being mutually interested in the welfare of Atlanta,

Graf Commander Sees Big Ship Safely Berthed and Goes to Washington To Meet Hoover.

WILL SEND CRAFT BACK SATURDAY

Reaches Hangar With Crumpled Rudder; Passengers Happy But Extremely Tired.

Lakehurst, N. J., August 29.—(AP)—The German dirigible Graf Zeppelin completed its triumphant three-week swoop around the world today and immediately preparations were begun for a take-off at midnight Saturday for her home port across the Atlantic.

It will be the Graf's fifth crossing of the Atlantic and for the first time on a major flight she will not be under the control of her veteran commander, Dr. Hugo Eckener.

On completion today of the first airship girdling of the globe of the fastest circumnavigation by any means of transportation, Dr. Eckener announced that he would stay in America about 12 days and would follow his dirigible home to Friedrichshafen by steamer and train.

Plans Several Visits.

During this period he planned to visit Washington, New York, and Akron, Ohio, where he was presented to President Hoover. For tomorrow he accepted an invitation to be formally welcomed by the city of New York and tomorrow night he planned to leave for Akron.

The Graf Zeppelin completed its 20,000-mile flight around the world in 21 days 7 hours and 34 minutes elapsed time, beating the record of John Henry Mears and C. B. D. Collyer, who went around the world last year in 23 days 15 hours and 21 minutes, using planes over land and ships across the Atlantic and Pacific.

Actual flying time of the Graf was 11 days 23 hours and 14 minutes, beating the time of 15 days and 6 hours made by the United States Army world fliers in 1924, the only other flight ever made around the world by any sort of aircraft. The time of the army fliers was 175 days.

The passengers on the world flight were taken to New York in a special train before they had a chance to rest much of their experiences and they were bound anyway by the terms of a contract between the Zeppelin Company and a news agency, by which this enough was learned to afford a clear picture of the vicissitudes of the journey.

Ride Tail of Typhoon.

Lieutenant J. C. Richardson, United States navy observer on the flight, told of riding the tail of a typhoon near Tokyo, during which the great ship was tossed and jumped 500 feet at a time. But the hardest going of all, he said, was over the American Rockies, where the air was rougher than anywhere over the Siberian wastes or the expanse of the Atlantic or Pacific.

Lieutenant Commander Charles E. Rosendahl, chief of American dirigibles, who was another passenger on the world cruise, also spoke of thrills but when he was asked to describe the ride, he merely said "it was a restriction of the news contract."

All were loud in praise of the Graf's achievement and made light of such mishaps as were encountered. The first of these was the breaking of struts on the ground and the only other was while having difficulty reaching altitude in leaving Los Angeles for Lakehurst.

The Graf came in today with a crumpled rudder and officials expected this by saying the rear of the ship had bumped the ground in getting away from the California city. They said it had nothing to do with high tension wires which had snagged the hydrogen-filled dirigible. There seemed to be some difference of opinion about these wires, Dr. Eckener speaking of "getting loose" from the wires and Lieutenant Richardson saying that the ship did not actually touch them.

When asked how close to touching them the Graf came, however, the naval observer grinned and said, "We'll let some one else answer that."

Seven members of the crew of the dirigible got to this terminal of the world flight more than four hours behind their ship. They were "put ashore" at Los Angeles to lighten the dirigible's burden and sent across the country by Trans-Continental air transport, the air-rail line with which Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh is associated.

After their arrival here, some of them were heard complaining that they had been "served up" in coming from the west coast because it little had been the Zeppelin in they and not those in the Graf would have attained the honor of having made the fastest circumnavigation of the globe, as they were brought here on regular scheduled time, however, and were taken off the train at Trenton and brought here by automobile, little attention was paid to these mutterings.

It was a beautiful sunny morning as the Graf appeared from New York, to which it had paid a visit before landing, and docking of the ship was accomplished with expert ease. Because of the early hour of arrival, 7:15 in the morning, there was a small crowd, perhaps 5,000 persons.

Rhineland Evacuation To Start Immediately as England Withdraws 6,000 Troops in 2 Weeks.

MAJOR DELEGATES LEAVE FOR HOME

Cost of Occupation Will Be Borne by Germany, France, Italy, Belgium; London Loses Bank.

The Hague, August 29.—(United News).—The international reparations conference, which brought the leading statesmen of Europe here to achieve final liquidation of the World War and put the Young reparations plan into effect, reached its goal tonight after three weeks of difficult negotiations.

The allied creditor powers and Germany agreed on the final problems under discussion, including cost of the Rhineland army of occupation after September 1, and drafting of protocols embodying the accord was started.

Payment of the Rhineland costs will be divided, it was stated semi-officially, Germany contributing 30,000,000 marks (about $7,500,000), while France, Belgium and Great Britain will pay the rest of the estimated 70,000,000 marks necessary.

It was understood reliably that the British effort to secure the Young plan international reparations bank for London had failed. Amsterdam is now said to be favored as the site for the bank.

Big Six Meet Today.

The delegates of the big six will meet tomorrow to exchange notes regarding evacuation of the Rhineland by June 30 of 1930, and the financial commission will meet not later to adopt its report. A plenary session will be held Saturday, devoted to formalities, but some of the chief delegates will leave here tomorrow.

Final agreement included an accord on withdrawal of troops from the Rhine valley, starting within two weeks. To achieve this agreement Germany agreed to financial reparations to aid in meeting part of Great Britain's demands for a greater share in reparations.

In addition to the Rhineland accord, it was understood that Dr. Gustav Stresemann, German foreign minister, had gained his desire of exchanging letters with Aristide Briand, French premier, to arrange negotiations for settlement of control of the rich Sarre basin, which Germany wishes to regain.

Germany Makes Sacrifice.

It was pointed out that Germany probably has made the greatest financial sacrifices and may meet the most bitter opposition at home. It was believed in some quarters that the Rhineland evacuation, as well as the certainty of the impending campaign against him, may resign. Germany paid rather heavily for evacuation, but Geneva and the Young plan, with smaller payments than in the past.

The efforts to restore the European harmony, which Snowden's hostile manner and determined demands endangered, will be continued at Geneva, where the League of Nations assembly meets next week. Briand leaves tomorrow for Geneva and Arthur Henderson, British foreign secretary, will return to London at the same time.

The agreement on Rhineland evacuation must be effected within eight months after the French and German parliaments ratify the Young plan and the French chamber ratifies the date for Rhineland evacuation—not to be later than June 30. The idea of a special commission to watch over the evacuated Rhine valley was abandoned.

British, French and Belgians agreed to complete evacuation of the second zone within three months after the start, probably mid-September. France undertakes to start evacuation of the third zone immediately after parliament ratifies the date and to proceed as rapidly as conditions permit, with the possibility that the last French soldier will leave German soil before June 30.

Both of the men are in Atlanta, where they have been since they were relieved of their duties, and Thursday night they had not been notified of the decision except through press dispatches.

They were described by former Warden John W. Snook as "two of the most capable and efficient officers in the federal penal system." Reports were that they were relieved because of their friendliness to Snook.

GIRL KAYOES MAN ATTACKER; HOLDS HIM FOR POLICE

Columbus, Ga., August 29.—(AP)—Miss Eleanor Walton called loudly for help today, and police rushing to her aid found her sitting on J. W. Howard.

They gave her assistance by helping Howard to his feet, and then the story came out.

Bed feeling between the two brought Howard and a loaded pistol to the mill where the girl worked. As he came out of a door, he fired, but his aim was bad.

Miss Walton loosed a crushing right hook to the point of the chin and Howard went down for the count. Holding him down, she called for help.

At a hearing in recorder's court, Howard was bound over to superior court on a charge of attack with intent to kill.

JONATHAN FROST DIES IN HOSPITAL

End Comes While on Visit to Winston-Salem; Body of Fraternal Leader To Be Brought Here.

Jonathan Burwell Frost, 68, one of the founders of the Woodmen of the World and a former Atlanta, died Thursday afternoon at a hospital in Winston-Salem, N. C., after an illness of several weeks.

The veteran fraternal leader was stricken while on a visit to J. C. Graham, of Winston-Salem. It became necessary to remove him to a hospital where he grew steadily worse, death claiming him early Thursday afternoon.

The body will be brought to Atlanta early this morning and funeral services will be conducted at 4:30 o'clock this afternoon at Spring Hill chapel. Burial will be in West View cemetery near the body of his wife, who died here many years ago. Local Woodmen of the World will take part in the services.

From the years 1905 to 1909 he served as administrative head for the order, having his offices here in the old armory building, which stood on Peachtree street, opposite the site of the present Chamber building. During this period he acquired extensive holdings in Atlanta real estate and became widely known as a civic and fraternal leader. He left here in 1915.

He later became an officer and director of the Woodmen of the World and educational organization.

In addition to his identification with the fraternal order, he gained some reputation as a writer. He was one time literary critic on the staff of the Kansas City Star and was the author of a number of books, including "Arizona" and "The Art of Reading."

He is survived by two daughters, Miss R. L. Frost, of Brooklyn, who was with him at the time of his death, and Mrs. L. W. Sprague, of Bayside, L. I.; a sister, Mrs. W. H. Cooper, of Macomb.

U. S. PEN GUARDS REDUCED IN RANK

Washington, August 29.—(AP)—C. L. Parker, captain of the watch, and C. G. Hopkins, lieutenant of the watch, of the Atlanta federal penitentiary, have been demoted and transferred.

The department of justice announced the actions today, both men having previously been suspended under charges preferred by the warden.

Parker was transferred to the New York department headquarters in New York City as a guard, while Hopkins was sent to the United States penitentiary at Leavenworth, Kansas, as a guard.

Parker and Hopkins were suspended June 25 by Warden A. C. Alderhold for the "loss of the service" and government officials have not made public the complaints which were formally filed at Washington.

Both of the men are in Atlanta, where they have been since they were relieved of their duties, and Thursday night they had not been notified of the decision except through press dispatches.

They were described by former Warden John W. Snook as "two of the most capable and efficient officers in the federal penal system." Reports were that they were relieved because of their friendliness to Snook.

Burrus and Prothro Settle Differences by Fist Fight

BASEBALL HEADQUARTERS AT SPILLER FIELD THURSDAY BUZZED WITH THE STORY OF HOW DICK BURRUS, SUSPENDED CRACKER FIRST BASEMAN, AND DOC PROTHRO, MANAGER OF THE MEMPHIS CHICKS, MET BENEATH THE GRANDSTAND AND SETTLED THEIR DIFFERENCES IN AN OLD-FASHIONED FIST FIGHT.

Anger that flamed in Memphis last Sunday when the Crackers and the Chicks staged a mild riot to accompany the showers of pop-bottles from spectators blazed again in Atlanta. Burrus and Prothro met, it is understood, by prearrangement, and resumed the scuffle that in Memphis was stopped by the police.

The report of an eye witness to the fight here reveals that after the men had exchanged several blows, Burrus landed a right to the jaw and Prothro went down for the count. Players of both teams were standing by while the men settled their feud in archaic fashion. Nick Culllop, Cracker outfielder picked Prothro up and carried him into the dressing room where he was revived.

The affair was conducted with regard to the code and few if any spectators knew of it. Burrus now is suspended for his part in the Memphis riot and this fact together with the comparative privacy of the battle makes it unlikely that any action will be taken by league authorities.

BEAVERS IN CLASH WITH CHIEF POOLE

Conflict Over Control of Plainclothes Operatives of Police Department Is Disclosed.

Clash of Chief of Police James L. Beavers and First Assistant Chief A. Lamar Poole over control of plainclothes operatives of the department was disclosed Thursday following a series of conferences in which Mayor I. N. Ragsdale, members of the police committee of city council, and Poole took part.

The split between the chief and his former most trusted lieutenant has become so acute that there were reports that a special meeting of the committee would be called to consider what is best to be done.

Committeemen themselves are divided as to the best course to pursue, with some of them contending that all plainclothesmen should be placed under the direction of Poole as chief of detectives and others holding that Beavers should be given free reign to administer the department without interference of the committee.

Beavers heads squad. Since inauguration of a special clean-up drive about two months ago, Beavers has been in charge of the department's plainclothes operatives, which have functioned under immediate direction of the police chief.

The office of the Beavers squad is located in the first floor of the station, while Poole's men are stationed in the regular detective office on the second floor of the police station.

Alderman J. Charlie Murphy, of the eleventh ward and chairman of the police committee, declared Thursday night that he would not call a meeting of the committee this week unless a majority of the members request it.

He declared the committee should take no action on the matter, but should permit Beavers to be chief in fact as well as in name.

2,500 STARVING IN OLD JERUSALEM AS FOOD RUNS OUT

British Announce Restoration of Order But Keep Tight Censorship of All News in Zone.

Cairo, August 29.—(Jewish Telegraphic Agency).—With minor outbreaks continuing in Jerusalem and surroundings all day Wednesday and part of Thursday, grave apprehension was held by the Jewish population of Palestine for a possible renewal of attacks on a large scale on Friday, the Sabbath of the Moslems.

The rumor has been confirmed that Arab leaders plan another huge assembly at the Mosque of Omar in Jerusalem for Friday. It was following such an assembly last Friday that the outrages were started.

With the exception of Haifa, where serious disorders occurred but were stopped by the British forces, comparative quiet prevailed. The Jewish settlers of the Colony Ekron returned to their homes. The settlements in the Valley of Jezreel resumed work.

The general condition of Jerusalem is very depressing. The city faces a lack of food and 2,500 persons, particularly in the old city Jewish quarters, are starving.

Press Still Muzzled. The Palestine press is still muzzled. News dispatches of the Reuter Agency transmitted here for the Palestine Telegraphic Agency are not being delivered by the Reuter office in Jerusalem. (A dispatch from London states that Jacob Landau, publisher of the Palestine Bulletin and managing director of the Jewish Telegraphic Agency, addressed a cable request to the high commissioner to permit the reappearance of the Palestine Bulletin, the only English daily in the country, which carries no editorial, and to ensure the delivery of the Reuter dispatches for the restoration of contact with the outside world.)

As reports continued to arrive about the increasing number of deaths among the Jewish wounded and individual cases of Arab attack and assault, the Vard Leumi, national council of Palestine Jews, issued an appeal to the Jewish population of Palestine to refrain from acts of vengeance against Arabs.

Wednesday night the Jewish Labor Colony, Kalandia, was again attacked, but the attack was repulsed. Two Arabs were killed. An Arab also was killed on a Jerusalem street. The same night two Jews were killed and

PLANS UNDER WAY BY FARM BOARD FOR HELP TO GRAIN

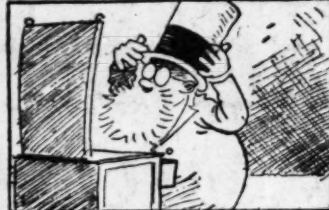

Chicago, August 29.—(P)—Immediate financial relief for grain farmers through loans by the federal farm board on unheeded grain which already has been used as collateral for loans from federal intermediate credit banks was the promise made today at the close of the grain marketing conference by Alexander Legge, chairman of the farm board.

Legge said the board would loan 10 cents a bushel on such grain to members of farmers' co-operatives. The meeting adjourned without adopting any definite plans for the proposed National Grain Marketing Corporation.

The sub-committee members were optimistic and said they believed that they were on the right track toward organization of a corporation which would meet with the approval of both the federal farm board and the co-operatives.

Rain May Fall On City Today, Says Forecast

Jupiter Pluvius, a rather frequent visitor to these parts, has remained in retirement for some days but has an even chance of putting in an appearance prior to sundown tonight, in the opinion of A. H. Scott, assistant meteorologist at the local weather bureau.

The mercury in the official thermometer, having put on a climbing spree Wednesday which netted a maximum of 92 degrees, was not quite so ambitious Thursday and contented itself with a rise to the 87 mark after starting from a minimum of 70. A similar range is anticipated today.

GEORGE W. SMITH, who declares Sargon has been worth more to him than all the cotton in the state.

"I made 200 bales of cotton in 1918 and only three bales in 1919. That's what the boll weevil did to me. Then, something over a year ago, my health failed. I've had my share of hard knocks, but I've had my rewards, too, and the greatest of these was Sargon. It brought back my health, and has been worth more to me than all the cotton in Georgia.

"I suffered with stomach trouble; my skin was yellowish and I had headaches and dizzy spells. I began to have lumbago and sciatica in my legs. I lost weight and strength and felt tired all the time.

"Sargon and the pills made a well man of me. My stomach troubles are gone, my skin has cleared up and I never have headaches or bilious spells now. I no longer suffer with lumbago or sciatica; the nervousness is gone. I sleep good all night and work with a vigor I haven't felt before in years."—Geo. W. Smith, 25 Little St., Atlanta, Ga.

PHIFER ESTATE SET AT $1,172,834 NET

North Carolinian Divided Estate; Most Goes to Sister.

New York, August 29.—(P)—Robert F. Phifer, formerly of North Carolina, who died October 16, 1928, left an estate valued at $1,255,662 gross and $1,172,834 net, according to a transfer tax appraisal filed today.

Mrs. Sallie P. Williamson, of Chicago, a sister, receives a life interest in three-fourths of the residuary estate, divided in three shares. After her death the shares go to her children and to their issue after their deaths; but in the event they leave no issue the money then goes to the board of directors of the North Carolina State Memorial Art Museum.

The remaining quarter of the residuary estate goes to a nephew, Marshall P. Williamson, of Chicago, with a similar disposition after his death if he leaves no issue.

The Concord public library, of Concord, N. C., shares in the remainder of a $30,000 trust fund after the death of four cousins, who share equally in the fund. The art society also receives paintings valued at $8,061. These paintings include one by Julian Rix, "Seascape," valued at $750; two others by the same artist, "Cloudy Day" and "September Afternoon," each valued at $250, and a portrait of the wife of Governor John W. Ellis, of North Carolina, attributed to Thomas Sully, valued at $250.

A $10,000 bequest was left to the Oakwood cemetery of Concord, N. C., for the erection of a chapel.

THREE DIE, 11 HURT AS BLAZE HITS NEW YORK HOUSE

New York, August 29.—(P)—Three persons were killed and 11 were injured early today in a fire in a four-story tenement house on the lower west side.

Fire Lieutenant Michael Coyle, swung from an adjoining house, while held by two other members of his company, and rescued Moritz Brunwasser, 48 years old, who was trapped on a third floor window sill with the flames at his back.

Charles Hollander, 65, who lived on the top floor, was killed when he leaped to the back yard. The bodies of Mrs. Sophie Brunwasser, 46, and a 17-year-old son, whose name was not learned, were found in their third floor apartment. Their deaths were caused by smoke and burns. The injured suffered chiefly from smoke.

MUSICIANS' UNION IN SEATTLE ASKS FOR RECOGNITION

Seattle, August 29.—(P)—Managers of 12 local theaters here today were considering an ultimatum by the local musicians' union demanding the employment of at least one union organizer in each, pursuant to an alleged agreement signed September 1, 1928.

The theater men were notified that if the demand were not complied with, no union employee belonging to the allied theatrical trades would be allowed to work in the theaters, which dispensed with organizers when they began showing sound pictures.

TACNA IS UNDER PERUVIAN FLAG DUE TO AGREEMENT

Tacna, Peru, August 29.—(P)—The province of Tacna, which Peru ceded to Chile after the war of 1879, today again was under the Peruvian flag.

As a consequence of the recent treaty settling the Tacna-Arica dispute, which awarded Arica to Chile and Tacna to Peru, the return to the Lima government was made yesterday.

There was a small demonstration by Peruvians and a few Chilean nationalists asked to be repatriated.

CAST OF 'BAD BABIES' NABBED BY POLICE

Los Angeles, August 29.—(P)—Ten persons connected with the presentation of a play called "Bad Babies" at a local theater were at liberty under bonds today, following their arrest last night, after the police charged with staging an "indecent and lewd exhibition."

Patrons of the show, who witnessed the rush of detectives from the audience to the stage, applauded the action, believing it to be a clever finale.

Eight players, the stage manager and author, were taken to the police station, where they gained release on $500 bail each.

Lloyd Nix, city prosecutor, who ordered the arrests, said he had received many complaints against the show which was billed as "A Comedy Drama of Modern Life." The play was built around the intrigues of a group of high school boys and girls, and the complications which resulted when a society woman fell in love with one of the boys. The show was suspended pending the outcome of a hearing today.

FLORIDA BANKS FORM ON REORGANIZATIONS

Tallahassee, Fla., August 29.—(P)—With numerous announcements of the organization of new banks or the reorganization of old ones current through the state, Florida today was apparently bearing out the expressed belief of Governor Doyle Carlton that the state has "turned a corner" following the closing of a number of financial institutions during a financial depression.

Organization of the Bank of Deland under a charter granted by the state banking department, was announced yesterday. At the same time, it was learned an application had been entered with the federal comptroller of currency for establishment of the Florida National Bank of Deland, Inc., $200,000,000 Jacksonville corporation, and Ben Withers, vice president of the Florida National Bank of Jacksonville, Almon Securities, Inc., is headed by Alfred I. Dupont.

The interests seeking charter for the National Bank of Deland have already organized a Florida National Bank at Lakeland, and are reported to be seeking federal permission to organize a Florida National bank at Orlando.

The last few days have seen the opening of several closed Florida banks, under the new state banking law which enables the state comptroller to "freeze" a certain percentage of deposits for such time as he deems necessary to place the various institutions on sound footing. The most recent of this class of banks is the Bank of Frost Proof, which opened Tuesday after being closed for several months.

GOOD WANTS COWS RUN OFF BATTLE GROUNDS

Washington, August 29.—(P)—Secretary Good of the federal government should show the cows off the site of the Battle of New Orleans. So firm is his belief that he has prepared a draft of a bill to provide for the "care, custody, control and maintenance of the existing monument and grounds" by the federal government. It has been submitted to the house military committee.

For a score of years efforts have been made to have congress authorize the war department to make a national military memorial of the battlefield, where the American army achieved its outstanding victory over the British in the War of 1812. Congress, however, never indicated a desire for a survey of the site. It did appropriate $25,000 toward a monument erected in 1897 on the grounds, which were to have been cared for by the state of Louisiana and the United Daughters of 1776 and 1812.

The subject has been revived by inquiries from persons interested in the preservation of the battlefield, which disclosed that cattle had invaded the grounds to graze. It was held that the state had not made adequate provision to maintain the grounds, while the funds supplied by the United Daughters were understood to be insufficient to care for the monument.

One of the reasons advanced why congress has attached so little significance to the site is that the engagement was fought several weeks after peace was declared by an American force led by Major General Andrew Jackson and the British regulars commanded by Major General Edwin Pakenham.

The battle was fought at Chalmette, on the outskirts of New Orleans. Nine thousand British attacked 4,500 Americans, including the pirates headed by Pierre and Yon Lafitte, and their lieutenant, Dominique You. The British suffered 2,137 killed and wounded, while the American casualties numbered 71.

FIRE DESTROYS
OF COTTON ON SHIP

New York, August 29.—(Special.)—Nearly a thousand bales of cotton were ruined this afternoon by fire aboard the lighter Savannah, of the Savannah line. Flames leaped high into the air and for a while smoke hampered shipping in the vicinity.

The blaze was discovered at 4:30 o'clock when the cotton was being unloaded from the steamingship Vermont, of the Savannah line, moored alongside the lighter. The Savannah was pulled out into midstream by tugs of the line and the flames fought by the crews of the fireboats New Yorker and Thomas Willet. The fire is believed to have been caused by spontaneous combustion.

U.S. LEADS IN WORLD AIR TRANSPORTATION

Germany in Van in Miles of Commercial Lanes Flown.

Washington, August 29.—(P)—The United States leads in civil air transportation so far as mail carried and the number of miles flown are concerned but Germany is ahead of the rest of the world in miles of airways in operation, number of passengers carried, in commercial mileage per airplane and also in pounds of express and freight carried.

Civil air transportation statistics from 26 nations for 1928 made public today at the department of commerce show that United States planes carried 4,061,210 pounds of mail; France 1,007,280; Germany 1,130,000; Canada 316,631, and Great Britain 120,562.

Germany, however, despite its area as compared to the United States, had 18,540 miles of civil air lines in operation as compared to 16,667 in the United States. Germany's 535 civil aircraft flew 7,030,565 miles in regular service, and the 6,320 civil planes in the United States 10,673,450 miles. Canada's 327 ships flew 2,724,414 miles, and little Netherlands, with 30 civil aircraft and 2,062 miles of air lines in operation reported 1,007,920 miles flown in regular service in 1928.

Germany led the list easily in number of passengers carried with a total of 115,000. Canada came second with 74,089. United States was third with 49,713. Germany's express and freight total was 4,282,000 pounds. France 1,847,836 pounds.

CITY SALESMEN READY FOR ANNUAL BARBECUE

Plans Are Outlined at Dinner Given to Stewart and Castleberry.

Walter B. Stewart, chairman of the public works committee of Fulton county commissioners, and C. F. Castleberry, member of the Richmond county commissioners, were honor guests Thursday night at a dinner given at the Henry Grady hotel by the Atlanta City Salesmen's Association, to be held Saturday at Lakewood.

B. B. Baker, president of the association, announced after the meeting that every detail in preparation for the biggest annual entertainment of the association has been perfected and that members and their friends are assured the most elaborate program ever arranged in the 35 years the organization has existed.

Mr. Castleberry will bring a corps of employees from his plant at Augusta, where he can Georgia barbecue and allied commodities, to Atlanta and will prepare the food as a compliment to the association, said to be the oldest of its kind in the United States.

Bum Myers and his "Merrymakers" will furnish music for dancing from 3 until 6 o'clock in the afternoon, and the Electrical Workers' quartet, headed by M. B. Strong, will give several selections while the food is being served from 1 until 3 o'clock in the afternoon.

T. L. Simpson is chairman of the entertainment committee in charge of arrangements, and E. F. (Pet) Johnson is chairman of publicity.

Al Smith Goes Into Building Business on Grand Scale

HEADS FIRM TO ERECT 80-STORY STRUCTURE

New York, August 29.—(P)—An 80-story skyscraper, to tower nearly 200 feet above any existing building in Manhattan, is to be built on the site of the old Waldorf-Astoria hotel at Thirty-fourth street and Fifth avenue, former Governor Alfred E. Smith, who will head the construction company, announced today.

The structure, the Empire State building, will be nearly 1,000 feet high and as estimated will cost upward of $20,000,000, Mr. Smith said. The Woolworth building has 60 stories that rise 792 feet into the air, and the Chrysler building, now under construction, will be 808 feet high, with 67 stories.

Mr. Smith said the Empire State building would be completed in one year and a half. It will have a 200-foot frontage on Fifth avenue and 425 feet each on Thirty-third and Thirty-fourth streets, and will house at one time 60,000 persons, he stated.

The former governor announced that as president of the Empire State Building corporation, he would be in executive control of construction and maintenance. Demolition of the Waldorf-Astoria will begin at once, he said.

Robert C. Brown, vice president of the Catham & Phenix National Bank and Trust company, is vice president of the company. The directorate includes Louis G. Kaufman, president of the Catham & Phenix; Ellis P. Earle, president of the Nipissing Mines company; Pierre S. Du Pont, chairman of E. I. du Pont de Nemours & Co.; John J. Raskob, financier and chairman of the Democratic national committee; Charles M. Friedman, president of the B. Altman & Co., and August Heckscher, philanthropist and real estate operator.

PILOT THANKS U. S. FOR ASSISTANCE.

Washington, August 29.—(P)—Tired and sorely in need of rest, Dr. Hugo Eckener, master of the globe-circling Graf Zeppelin, came to Washington today to express personally to President Hoover and high government officials his gratitude for the country's assistance in the historic achievement.

With an air of deepest feeling, the German air navigator told the president the flight "could not have been achieved without the generous assistance which came from the United States."

From President Hoover and other officials, as well as the throngs who crowded the streets and department corridors, Dr. Eckener received tributes of high admiration for the feat.

In congratulating the Graf's commander, President Hoover said the noteworthy attainment showed "the spirit of high adventure still lives, and it's success has been due to the untiring and engineering abilities of the German people, translated by your own skill and courage."

"You have lifted the spirits of men, with renewed confidence in human progress," he said.

Replying to the president's tribute, Dr. Eckener said: "Mr. President, I am deeply grateful for the gracious address you have been pleased to extend to me. You have been kind enough to appreciate what the ship, captain and crew have achieved and we are proud of such appreciation."

"I wish to say, however, that the achievement could not have been attained without the generous assistance which came from the United States. I wish to avail myself of this occasion to express my appreciation."

Dr. Eckener arrived at 2:04 p. m. in a navy transport plane from the naval air station at Lakehurst, N. J., accompanied by Dr. O. C. Kiep, charge d'affaires of the German embassy; Assistant Secretary MacCracken, in charge of commerce department aeronautics, and Rear Admiral William A. Moffett, chief of the naval bureau of aeronautics. The pilots were Lieutenants R. Irvine and A. P. Story of the navy.

When Dr. Eckener was leaving for the state department, President Hoover again shook hands with him and bade him goodnight. In the absence of Secretary Stimson, Undersecretary Cotton and Assistant Secretary Castle congratulated the German.

At the navy department, Dr. Eckener

PREACHER AIDS IN LIQUOR RAID AT BUENA VISTA

Buena Vista, Ga., August 29.—(P)—E. L. Leary, of Shellman, Ga., was arrested last night and his auto and 20 1/2 gallons of liquor seized by Sheriff Sid Wiggins, assisted by Dr. Eckener, a local Methodist minister. It was said that Leary would be given a preliminary hearing in a few days on a charge of transporting liquor.

A Jewish girl and a child were wounded between Ludd and Tel Aviv. Additional details were received here concerning the defense by the settlers of the Jewish national fund settlement. The colony was under attack for eight hours and the settlers, less than 100, put up a vigorous defense until the arrival of British troops.

Rumors of Slaughter.

Travelers arriving in Cairo have brought credible accounts of the slaughter of men, women and children in the Arab attacks throughout Palestine. The situation appears to be in the grip of British military forces. Marauding bands of Arabs are being rounded up and disarmed outside Jerusalem where there is evidence of trouble. It is feared that military control be released.

Political aspects of the trouble center in London but the Walling Wall issue will be transferred to Geneva next week when the League of Nations meets. Jewish leaders are in close contact with Lord Passfield, British colonial secretary, whose department is responsible for order in Palestine as a British mandate under the League of Nations.

The Jewish emergency fund for relief is mounting rapidly $175,000 having been raised in London alone. Jewish protest meetings continue throughout the world. Rumors of widespread Arab unrest continue but the reported invasion of Palestine from Trans-Jordan has not materialized.

Official British figures to August 28 list the dead and wounded in Palestine as follows: Dead, Moslems 52, Christians 4, Jews 96. Wounded in hospitals, Moslems 103, Christians 9, Jews 151.

SITUATION IN HAND. BRITISH GENERAL SAYS.

Jerusalem, August 29.—(P)—There are enough British troops in Palestine to meet all Jewish evictions. General Dobbie told a deputation of Jews who visited him late today. The general, who is commander of British troops in the country, assured his visitors that it would no longer be necessary for Jews to evacuate their homes.

Reports continued to filter in of scattered disorders, but most of them related to incidents that occurred several days ago. One of these reports said the famous orange plantation named "Garden of Eden" or "Garden of Chayim," in honor of Dr. Chayim Weizmann, president of the World Zionist organization, had been attacked by Arabs. It was said that considerable agricultural machinery and part of the plantation had been destroyed.

There was a big demonstration of joy at Tel Aviv today when the first donations were received from America for the relief fund. There were two of $25,000 each, and came from Julius Rosenwald, of Chicago, and Nathan Strauss, of New York.

Jerusalem Peaceful.

Jerusalem was peaceful throughout the day and similar conditions prevailed in the other cities of the country. As troops and marines of the British forces extended their areas of control, a greater feeling of security spread rapidly, although rumors of what was happening on the Trans-Jordanian border persisted. One report, which was not confirmed, said that Arabs in Nabulus, a city in central Palestine, had raised the Turkish flag and declared themselves independent of British control. Another report was that Arabs at Tiberias, on the Sea of Galilee, were organizing for an armed outbreak and that they expected help from Trans-Jordan.

There already are more than 3,000 refugees from the countryside in Jerusalem, Tel Aviv and Haifa. The refugees left all their possessions in their abandoned homes.

BRITISH OFFICIALS SEEK CAUSE OF TROUBLES.

London, August 29.—(P)—Energetic naval and military measures by British authorities responsible for order in the Holy Land have succeeded in suppressing Arab-Jewish disorders which have been raging there for five days, according to latest reports received in London.

The gruesome details are being related in newspapers here of the events but the reports still leave the actual origin of these riots confused and contradictory. It will now be the business of the authorities to establish culpability and responsibility for the outbreaks that have resulted in 152 deaths and 263 wounded.

The British colonial official communique announced that the total casualties to August 28, including those previously listed as killed or died from wounds were: Moslems 52; Christians 4; Jews 96. Wounded in hospitals, Moslems, 103; Christians, 9; Jews, 151.

HILL TRIBES REPORTED MASSING FOR WAR.

Paris, August 29.—(United News.) A force of about 2,000 hard-riding, and fearless Bedouin tribesmen, led by the notorious Druse chieftain, Sultan Atrache, were reported in high Syrian quarters today to be advancing into Palestine to aid Arabs there.

The Syrian sources said that Atrache—a handsome desert leader and the idol of his people—has seized upon the present unrest among Moslems to renew his activities against European forces. The 2,000 Bedouins were said to be supported by 800 Druses.

Atrache, who led the last Druse revolt, but has been in hiding since, is not animated by anti-Jewish feelings, but his sentiments are violently anti-European, his hatred being directed against the French and British authorities.

The Druses, who live in the hills and desert country of the Palestine-Syrian border, have long held animosity to the British and French rule. The Druses have said only one smashing victory is necessary to inflame the entire Moslem area.

new told Secretary Adams he planned to organize a corporation to build and operate several large dirigibles for world-wide transportation. He said the corporation would be organized in Germany, but that financiers must be found who could provide for the construction of huge hangars and ships. The world-girdling trip, he said, demonstrated that Zeppelins of the future had to be faster, shorter and thicker. He added he was convinced by the trip that dirigibles were adapted for successful long distance transportation.

Secretary Adams told Dr. Eckener, "You Germans, with your dirigibles, are revolutionizing things. I am glad to see the rapid progress."

Dr. Eckener laughed and replied: "Well, you know we must go ahead."

PREACHER AIDS IN LIQUOR RAID AT BUENA VISTA

Buena Vista, Ga., August 29.—(P)—E. L. Leary, of Shellman, Ga., was arrested last night and his auto and 20 1/2 gallons of liquor seized by Sheriff Sid Wiggins, assisted by Dr. Eckener, a local Methodist minister. It was said that Leary would be given a preliminary hearing in a few days on a charge of transporting liquor.

A Jewish girl and a child were wounded between Ludd and Tel Aviv. Additional details were received here concerning the defense by the settlers of the Jewish national fund settlement. The colony was under attack for eight hours and the settlers, less than 100, put up a vigorous defense until the arrival of British troops.

Rumors of Slaughter.

Travelers arriving in Cairo have brought credible accounts of the slaughter of men, women and children in the Arab attacks throughout Palestine. The situation appears to be in the grip of British military forces. Marauding bands of Arabs are being rounded up and disarmed outside Jerusalem where there is evidence of trouble. It is feared that military control be released.

Political aspects of the trouble center in London but the Walling Wall issue will be transferred to Geneva next week when the League of Nations meets. Jewish leaders are in close contact with Lord Passfield, British colonial secretary, whose department is responsible for order in Palestine as a British mandate under the League of Nations.

The Jewish emergency fund for relief is mounting rapidly $175,000 having been raised in London alone. Jewish protest meetings continue throughout the world. Rumors of widespread Arab unrest continue but the reported invasion of Palestine from Trans-Jordan has not materialized.

Official British figures to August 28 list the dead and wounded in Palestine as follows: Dead, Moslems 52, Christians 4, Jews 96. Wounded in hospitals, Moslems 103, Christians 9, Jews 151.

Riders of Graf Find Scenes Over U. S. 'Most Memorable'

PASSENGERS RECALL THRILLING MOMENTS

New York, August 29.—(P)—The most memorable scenes encountered by the Graf Zeppelin on its circuit of the globe were spread beneath its passengers as the ship soared across the United States, members of the party said today as they disembarked from the silver vessel at Lakehurst, N. J., and hastened to New York.

Some of the travelers were at the end of their dirigible voyage, while others had still to make the last leg of the trip across the Atlantic to Friedrichshafen. But most of them agreed that nothing witnessed over Siberia could outdo the panoramas spread beneath the ship as it journeyed from Los Angeles to Lakehurst.

Gustav Kauder, Berlin journalist, declared that the scene along the Chicago Lakeshore through houses on Michigan boulevard as the Graf passed over Chicago Wednesday evening was the most striking picture of the entire journey, and several countrymen, less facile speakers of English, chimed in with "ja ja!"

Richardson Likes Faralones.

Lieutenant J. C. Richardson, observer for the U. S. navy, said that this trip has really happened and that he was on it before he undertook to isolate specific features of the flight and say he got from them a special thrill.

William B. Leeds, wealthy young Oyster Bay globe trotter and sportsman, wanted a few days "to realize that this trip has really happened and that he was on it before he undertook to isolate specific features of the flight and say he got from them a special thrill."

"I was amazed, and so were we all who do not know your country intimately, at the number of airships in the United States," said Kauder, who is making the journey for the Ullstein Publications of Germany. "We had them alongside us all the way from Los Angeles to Lakehurst in every waking hour, except part of the distance from El Paso to Kansas City, when it was dark night."

Body of Woman Found in Bushes

Partly Decomposed Remains of Young Widow Are Identified by Sister

Knoxville, Tenn., August 29.—(P)—The partly decomposed body of Mrs. Julia Aulton, 31-year-old widow, was found in a clump of bushes near the Knoxville Industrial school today. Police said she had been stabbed to death.

A sister identified the body. Mrs. Aulton had been missing since August 17.

Police were unable to identify the body when first found. They issued a report that no persons were missing in Knoxville, but Mrs. Aulton's sister heard of the discovery and said the body was her sister's.

Boys at the school found the body. A farmer living nearby said he heard screams at night about a week ago near the spot where the body was found.

St. Paul, Minn., August 29.—(P)—Hesekiah N. Duff, Lansing, Mich., a private in the Spanish-American war, today was nominated for the office of commander-in-chief of the Veterans of Foreign Wars attending their 30th annual encampment here.

Duff was the only one placed in nomination after Admiral Robert E. Coontz of Washington, D. C., retired, put down a boom started by his friends. Admiral Coontz likewise refused to accept the nomination as senior vice-commander of the veterans.

TROUBLE AT SAFED. RUMORED AT JERUSALEM.

Jerusalem, August 29.—(P)—Jewish Telegraphic Agency.—New disturbances broke out today at Safed. Details are still lacking.

During the last two days more than 200 Arabs and 40 Jews were arrested by the British authorities.

BETTER THAN STEAMERS.

The voyagers said that Zeppelin travel was generally much smoother and pleasant, even in stormy weather, than ocean liner travel, with less vibration and the relief of the most exciting part of the voyage apparently was the ride across the Pacific.

Dr. J. Megias, physician to King Alfonso of Spain, who exchanged cablegrams several times a day throughout the flight with his royal client, was most greatly impressed with the thought that the flight across Spain on a flight which he was certain would be as historical a landmark as two expeditions made by his former countrymen—Columbus voyage to America and Verrazano's voyage of discovery.

All of the passengers who boarded the Graf at Friedrichshafen, by its way to Tokyo were eager to get exercise, smoking and hot berths during their two-and-a-half-day stay in New York before the flight from El Lakehurst and Germany which begins Saturday night.

The Jewish people were envisaged by President Hoover and Chairman Borah, of the senate foreign relations committee, in expressions tonight before the mass meeting in Madison Square Garden protesting against the Palestine massacre.

The president's hopes were incorporated in a telegram he sent to the meeting, which Senator Borah, as the principal speaker, demanded establishment of a definite program to assure security for the Jews under the British protectorate.

President Hoover said "our advice is that the vigorous action taken by the British government has restored the measure of protection, although that government is still faced with great burdens from this outbreak of fanaticism."

Blames Local Officials.

The senator was inclined to point to local officers in Palestine rather than place responsibility for recent clashes on the British government, asserting that "knowing the premier of Great Britain as many of us do, we know that it would be impossible for him to be indifferent or careless where human life was involved."

"We know now, with a little reflection we could have known in the beginning, that the establishment of a national home for the Jewish people in Palestine is a task calling not only for the highest order of statesmanship but calling also for eternal vigilance and vast sacrifices. The Arabs are a virile people, resourceful in war, indefatigable in purpose and imbued with a national spirit which at times partakes of fanaticism. To deal with such a situation there must in the beginning be an understanding, there must be some definite arrangement, some definite program."

The text of President Hoover's telegram, addressed to A. Tennenbaum, an official of the Zionist organization of America, was as follows:

"Hoover Expresses Sympathy.

"I have your request for a statement that may be presented at the meeting this evening in New York."

"I am glad of the opportunity to express my profound sympathy with those who have been bereaved and who have suffered through these disturbances. Good citizens in every country deplore these outbreaks and this loss of life. Our government is deeply concerned not only in this broader sense but in the narrower sense of the protection of the lives of American citizens."

"I am confident out of these tragic events will come greater security and greater safeguards for the future, under which the steady rehabilitation of the Palestine as a true homeland will be even more assured. An immediate and pressing question is the relief to those who are suffering. The fine sym-

All New Tax Measures Are Signed by Governor; $25,000,000 Annual Yield

General Appropriations
Only Bill Yet Unsigned.
Game and Fish Act Is Vetoed.

Georgia's 1930-1931 tax system as enacted by the legislature just adjusted has been approved in its entirety by Governor Hardman. The chief executive disposed of the last of the revenue Thursday by signing the sales tax bill, the corporations tax and the amendments to the general tax act.

Bills previously signed by the governor include the six-cent gasoline tax bill, the Boykin net income tax, and the cigar and cigarette tax act. The total income of the state from these measures and the ad valorem levy on the real property is expected to exceed $25,000,000 for each of the two years.

Approval of these bills, veto of the game and fish bill, and signing of the bill placing bus lines under jurisdiction of the public service commission Thursday removed all measures of the assembly except the general appropriations bill from the governor's desk.
After a detailed study Thursday afternoon, Governor Hardman had still to finish several sections of the appropriations act.

He is expected to sign the finance sheet early Friday.

Veto Reopens Row.

By vetoing the game and fish bill a quarrel which had held up both branches of the legislature until the final night of the session was again opened. The bill, as drawn by Representative Wind, of Grady, and was finally passed by substitute after a conference committee report late Saturday night.

The bill would have provided for revision of the state oyster and shrimp raising industries by authorizing county control of shell fish beds. It would have provided for leasing state lands used for oyster raising and set forth uniform regulations for cultivating and shipping. An increase in salary for the commissioner of game and fish from $3,000 to $5,000 was provided as well as a raise in pay for the tidewater commissioner, who would have been appointed by the game and fish commissioner instead of elected by the board as is required under present laws.

In connection with his veto, Governor Hardman issued a statement in which he said that the act as passed out of the assembly was unquestion-ably incomplete in form, did not meet the needs of the oyster industry in Georgia, and would result in increasing expenses of the department without increasing its efficiency.

Spill By Amendment.

The reference to incompleteness of the bill was aimed at confusion in the first section of the measure. As a compromise on the bill, the senate and house Saturday night before passing the bill struck from it the first section which would have provided for increasing the game and fish board to five members, three of whom were to come from the tidewater district.
The first section of a bill includes the enacting clause, and when the bill was amended by striking the first section, it thus lost its legal authority, according to the governor.

In the last night rush, legislators overlooked incorporating the enacting clause in the first section of the bill as amended.

In answer to the governor's statement and his veto of the bill, Peter S. Twitty, state commissioner of game and fish, also gave out a statement in which he said that he "regretted that the governor of the state has seen fit to permit a desire to continue political persecution to carry him to an extent of handicapping and delaying investment in developing the coastal section of Georgia."

Mr. Twitty believed that the bill as passed by the legislature in a compromise was adequate to take care of urgent needs of the state and concluded by saying that he did not think the coastal section of Georgia or the department of game and fish had been fairly treated.

New Taxes In Effect.

The tax measures approved by the chief executive will go into effect this year. The sales tax takes effect October first, while the income tax, previously signed, begins next Sunday, September 1. The sales tax provides for a levy of one-half mill on gross receipts of manufacturers, one mill on receipts of wholesalers and retailers, and three mills on public utilities and amusements. It is estimated to bring $1,775,000 into the treasury during each of the two years it is in effect.

The general tax act amendments incorporated into a single bill provide for remedying present defects in the tax law, and for increasing levies on certain industries of the state. A change which caused much discussion in the assembly before passage was a tax enacted of $5 on each gasoline pump. A tax of $50 is levied on each store in a chain of more than five.

The corporations tax increases the rate of license tax or occupation levy for the privilege of doing business in Georgia. It is based on the amount of capital stock of corporations, and applies to both domestic and foreign corporations.

Capitol Ave. Folk Prefer Martins To Losing Trees

Property owners and homesteaders along that section of Capitol avenue, chosen as the perennial abode of the purple martins, have decided that the disease is to be preferred to the cure in connection with the proposed cutting of the trees wherein the birds roost, in order to drive them to other parking places.

Along Capitol avenue, particularly between Georgia avenue and Bass street, the feathered visitors have been an annual problem for several seasons. Prohibited from killing the birds, the residents there have tried scarecrows, smoking and dozens of other methods to dislodge the tree lodgers whose chattering at times makes sleep virtually impossible.

At a recent meeting city council went to the extreme of authorizing the parks department to cut the trees to remove the trouble, providing the property owners would consent.

The parks department didn't care much about cutting the beautiful old trees that make the avenue a paradise of shade, and apparently the property owners preferred the birds and their noise to a shadeless and less beautiful thoroughfare, for to date none has asked that trees be cut.

The defenders of the trees point out that the martins are migratory birds, and their nocturnal disturbances at worst continue but a few weeks while the trees are a source of comfort and satisfaction at all times. That the city's annual "martin problem" has attracted widespread attention was evidenced Thursday when The Constitution received a letter on the subject from Claude H. Bottoms, of Jonesboro. Mr. Bottoms added his voice to those who were saying "spare those trees," and also mentioned the migratory habits of the birds.

GEORGIA AIR TOUR TO BE SEEN, HEARD ON CAPITOL SCREEN

A Fox Movietone news reel of the recent All-Georgia Air Tour, which was sponsored by The Constitution, will be shown at the Capitol theatre next week, it was announced Thursday by Carlier Barron, manager.

The sound pictures, which were taken by the Fox Movietone flying unit, feature the christening of Miss Georgia, flagship of the tour, by Miss Sue Colquitt Hardman, young daughter of Governor Hardman, and the ceremonies attending the departure of the planes on their 1,228-mile air voyage over the state.

Major J. N. Ragsdale and Clark Howell, editor of The Constitution, deliver brief addresses bidding the flyers God-speed. Others shown include Major Luke Christopher, tour commander; Captain A. B. MacDonald, army corps flyer, and Cecil Neill, president of the state senate.

Reduction Seen in 1928 In Per Capita Costs Of Georgia Government

U. S. Figures Put Cost at $5.11 in 1928—$6.26 in 1927, Excluding Permanent Improvements.

Reduction in the per capita cost of operating the Georgia state government from $6.26 in 1927 to $5.11 in 1928 was announced Thursday by the federal department of commerce in an analysis of this state's receipts and expenses during the fiscal year 1928. The figures are based on a financial summary made by L. Roy Parr, assistant state auditor, and are computed on an estimated population in 1928 of 2,305,000.

The commerce department's survey shows total revenue receipts for the year of $27,998,293 and total payments—including operating and maintenance cost, public service enterprises and all outlays—of $28,256,705.

It was pointed out Thursday night by officials of the Georgia auditing and treasury departments that the commerce department's figures for per capita cost are based only on operating and maintenance costs, and not on permanent improvements, including road construction and erection of state buildings—of more than $11,000,000 were included in the per capita expense would be greater.

However, the per capita expense of $6.26 for 1927 and $5.11 for 1928, on maintenance costs, so that a material saving was effected during the past year. This economy was laid to decreased appropriations for educational purposes to the smaller political units of the state.

Figures used in the survey show total expenditures and total receipts from all sources during the year. They do not take into account the existing deficit at the beginning of 1928. It was pointed out that the deficit at the end of 1929 will have reached more than $4,000,000, it is freely predicted by governmental authorities.

The text of the commerce department's report is as follows:

"The payments for operation and maintenance of the general departments of Georgia amounted to $10,375,806, or $5.11 per capita. This includes $4,807,318 appropriations for education to the minor civil divisions of the state. In 1927 the comparative per capita for operation and maintenance of general departments was $6.26 and in 1927, $2.48. The increased per capita for operation and maintenance shown for 1928 was largely due to a decrease in the appropriations for education to the minor civil divisions. The payments for operation and maintenance of public service enterprises in 1928 amounted to $8,608,282, or $3.74 per capita. This was $11,286,801 more than the total payments for permanent improvements, but $258,412 less than the total payments including those for permanent improvements. Property and special taxes represented 27.3 per cent of the total revenue for 1928; 24.3 per cent for 1927, and 68.8 per cent for 1917. The increase in the amount of property and special taxes collected was 20.4 per cent from 1917 to 1927, and 7.6 per cent from 1927 to 1928. The per capita property and special taxes were $2.39 in 1928; $2.24 in 1927, and $1.93 in 1917.

"Earnings of general departments, or compensation for services rendered by state officials, represented 5.8 per cent of the total revenue for 1928; 8.1 per cent for 1927, and 9.2 per cent for 1917.

"Business and non-business licenses constituted 4.5 per cent of the total revenue for 1928; 4.2 per cent for 1927, and 9.5 per cent for 1917.

Revenue Sources.

"Receipts from business licenses consist chiefly of taxes exacted from insurance and other incorporated companies and of sales tax on gasoline, while those from non-business licenses comprise chiefly taxes on motor vehicles.

hicles and amounts paid for hunting privileges. The sales tax on gasoline amounted to $6,156,169 in 1928 and $5,733,045 in 1927, an increase of 7.4 per cent.

"The total funded or fixed debt outstanding December 31, 1928, was $8,984,067.

"To net indebtedness (funded or fixed debt less sinking fund assets) was $3,590,507, or $2.08 per capita. In 1927 the per capita net debt was $2.92, and in 1917, $2.14.

"The assessed valuation of property in Georgia subject to ad valorem taxation was $1,293,332,397; the amount of state taxes levied was $6,466,962, and the per capita levy $2.62. In 1917 the per capita levy was $2.01, and in 1917, $1.71."

MRS. CROKER FILES LARGEST BOND KNOWN IN FLORIDA

West Palm Beach, Fla., August 29. (AP)—What is said to be the largest bond ever posted in a Florida court and one of the largest ever posted in the United States was filed in circuit court here today in the six-year-old Croker land case.

J. B. McDonald and the Palm Beach Estates, a real estate firm, filed supersedeas bond of $2,500,000 in taking appeal to the state supreme court from the $1,670,000 debt handed down in the six-year-old suit brought by Mrs. Bula E. Croker, which was approved by Circuit Judge C. E. Chilton.

By posting the bond, McDonald and the Palm Beach Estates bound themselves to pay Mrs. Croker for approximately 10,000 feet of ocean front property in Palm Beach the sum of $1,671,084.99 and interest at 8 per cent from August 30, together with all damage and loss which may accrue to her, the complainant, by reason of the appeal, conditioned, however upon the decree being upheld by the appellate court. They also are bound to pay any sum that might be decreed against them in the circuit court decree through the appeal, together with all damage or loss.

CONFEDERATE VET, STABBED IN FIGHT, IS NEAR DEATH

New Orleans, August 28. (AP)—Physicians were waging a desperate fight today to save the life of Major Crowley, 87-year-old Confederate veteran, stabbed and critically wounded yesterday at his rooming house in a fight with Walter Sims, 45, a laborer.

The veteran's jugular vein was partially severed in the fight. Sims was arrested and charged with cutting and wounding with intent to murder. His bond was set at $1,500.

Major Crowley, barely able to whisper, told police the two engaged in an argument and he struck Sims with a billiard cue stick he used for support. Sims then drew his knife.

The aged veteran is said to be the last survivor of the military staff of Jefferson Davis, president of the Confederacy.

New York, August 29. (AP)—The United Aircraft and Transport Corporation announced today that Captain Ira Eaker and Lieutenant Bernard S. Thompson would start another trans-continental endurance flight tomorrow.

Captain Eaker has advised the office here that damages to the shuttle plane, which forced it down in Cleveland would be repaired today and the fliers would be over New York at 5 a. m. tomorrow to start out for Oakland, Cal., on a non-stop trip. They intend to carry out their original plans of making five "shuttles" across the country.

SKELETON, OVER 50 YEARS OLD,
FOUND AFTER FIRE

Great Falls, Mont., August 29. (AP)—The skeleton of a trapper undisturbed for half a century was uncovered by a forest fire in the Lewis and Clark forest, when the cartridges in the dead man's gun were exploded by the heat.

Fire-fighting crews heard the explosions, but were unable at the time to investigate because of the flames. The fire was controlled yesterday and the curious men returned to the spot where they heard the shots.

They found the skeleton of the man who apparently had been killed by an animal, where he had made his camp. Beside him was rifle, bearing the date and an old heavy iron skillet. A salt shaker, rusted almost away and two bottles of poison of a type used by trappers, also were found.

VALUABLE LOOT FOUND IN NEGRO SHACK AT OCALA

Ocala, Fla., August 29. (AP)—When the sheriff visited the home of Clifford and Josie Bradley, negroes, here today to serve warrants for operating an automobile without a license, he located enough loot to furnish a hotel.

Four trunks and three large boxes were filled with fine chinaware, silverware, bed linen, table linen and window curtains.

The property, believed stolen from a hotel apartment house or winter home in the resort section of the state, is valued at several hundred dollars.

An item that is hoped will help locate the owners is a collection of family photographs taken 30 or 40 years ago in Wisconsin.

BRITISH NOBLE BARELY MISSES DEATH FROM TRAIN

Newton Hall, England, August 29. (AP)—Viscount Grey, of Fallodon, British statesman and internationalist, narrowly escaped death yesterday when the famous Scots' express missed his motor car by a few feet at Fallodon Junction grade crossing, Northumberland.

The quick-thinking chauffeur grabbed the emergency brake just in time to stop the car. The train crashed into the railway gate throwing flying wood and debris into the motor car.

HOOVER INVITES 21 TO WEEK-END CAMP

Six Members of Farm Board Included in Number Asked.

Washington, August 29. (AP)—A party of 21, including six members of the federal farm board, have been invited by President Hoover to spend the week-end at his Virginia camp on the Rapidan in the Blue Ridge mountains.

The president and his party will leave Washington late tomorrow afternoon and will remain in seclusion over Labor day, returning to the capital early Tuesday morning.

In addition to Mrs. Hoover and the president's son, Allan, the party will include Chairman Leggett, of the farm board, and four of his colleagues, Commissioners Teague, Denman, Wilson and Williams and their wives. These board members will be able to give the president a first hand account of the session this week in Chicago, where final plans were made to organize the Farmers' National Grain Marketing corporation. Secretary Hyde, who serves ex officio on the board, also will be in the party.

Other guests will be Mrs. Jean Large, sister of Mrs. Hoover, and her children, Janet and Delano; John Beaver White, of Philadelphia, and his daughter, Joan; Mark Sullivan, newspaper writer, and his daughter, Narcissa; Walter Newton, the president's secretary, and Lieutenant Commander Joel T. Boone, U. S. N., White House physician.

PURSE SAVES WOMAN FROM STRAY BULLET

Jacksonville, Fla., August 29. (AP)—Mrs. Mae Gaylor's purse saved her from a possible "murder" wound last night. As she sat in her sedan on a business district street, a stray bullet pierced the top of the car and struck her purse, which was lying in her lap. The bullet penetrated the purse and a bank book, but its velocity was apparently spent and it stopped there. Police identified the bullet as having come from a .45-caliber pistol, but were unable to locate its source.

POLICE SCATTER JEWS GATHERED AT MEET IN PARIS

Paris, August 29. (AP)—Police scattered between 3,000 and 4,000 Jews who met last night in front of a synagogue on the Rue Pavée to protest happenings in Palestine. The building holds 300 or 400, the remainder crowding the street in front. No interference was made until harranguers mounted tables and invited the manifestants to march to the British embassy.

TWO HELEN GARRISONS

One Requests Clarification of Court Story.

Miss Helen Garrison, of 635 Moreland avenue, S. E., Thursday asked The Constitution to explain that she is not the Miss Helen Garrison to whom a temporary injunction was issued in Judge Virlyn B. Moore's court Wednesday.

As reported in The Constitution news columns Thursday morning, a Miss Helen Garrison was granted an order restraining Irvin Soclooff from communicating with her or annoying her. Through the duplication in names some confusion arose and Miss Garrison, of the Moreland avenue address, asked that the matter be clarified.

GUILTY PLEA ENTERED IN LIVINGSTON TRIAL

Sentence To Be Passed Today on Charge of Aiding Aubrey Smith's Escape.

Jack Livingston, alias Jack Lynch, alias W. T. Winters, Thursday entered a plea of guilty to five indictments charging him with complicity in escapes from the state prison farm at Milledgeville. Sentence will be passed on Livingston this morning in Fulton superior court.

Livingston pleaded guilty to indictments charging him with aiding the escape of Aubrey Smith, notorious gangster, from the state prison farm, attempting to aid the escape of Le-land Harvey, a member of Smith's gang, from the Sumter county chain-gang, and with harboring Smith, Monte Wilson and Louis Stephens, escaped convicts.

Passage of sentence was deferred in order to allow the state prison commission to be represented when Livingston is sentenced, it was said. Harvey, who was brought to Atlanta recently from Sumter county, has been assigned to the North camp.

Courthouse To Close.

The Fulton county courthouse will be closed all day Monday in observance of Labor Day, by order of the county commission, it was announced Thursday by Henry Wood, clerk of the commission.

3 SPALDING COUNTY STILLS DESTROYED BY U. S. DRY MEN

Three giant stills, one of 600-gallon capacity and two half this size, were destroyed in Spalding county late Wednesday by local federal officers with officers of Spalding and Henry counties. It was announced here Thursday.

None of the three outfits was being worked at the time although all were completely equipped for whiskey making, it was stated. Several thousand gallons of mash were also destroyed. No arrests were made.

Six-Year Sentence.

A sentence of from six to ten years was assessed Robert Jennings Thursday when he was convicted in Judge G. H. Howard's division of Fulton superior court on a charge of robbing Sam McDaniel of $10 and a knife on July 28.

Pensacola Planning Monster Program As Labor Day Feature

Pensacola, Fla., August 29.—(P)—A monster program has been arranged for the celebration here of Labor Day, the features being the dedication of the scenic highway and addresses by Governor Carlton.

The governor will make two addresses, one at the highway opening at 10:30 a. m. and the other at a picnic of labor unions at a local resort at 3:30 p. m.

Mayor J. H. Baylis heads the committee on program for the highway day. Other notables included in the list of speakers are Judge Ben McInnis, Tallahassee; Harry Hartwell, Mobile city commissioner; George Monilton, of the Alabama highway department, and Fred Marsh, local civic leader and big game proponent.

A free fish fry, old-time fiddlers contest, and a decorated automobile parade are scheduled and an army band will provide music. Mrs. Carlton will sever a silken strand officially opening the new highway.

Other events arranged for the entertainment of thousands of expected visitors include a tennis tournament, outdoor motorboat races, a swimming and diving meet, golf matches and two baseball games.

Wet Dries Denounced
By Texas Grand Jury
In Special Report

Texas, August 29.—(P)—A scathing denunciation of prohibitionists, church members and "leading" citizens who patronize the community bootlegger was contained in a report of the Bowie county grand jury today.

Charging 95 per cent of all law violations are strictly traceable to wet tendencies of the dries, the report denounced those who "breach enforcement of law but do not live up to their preaching," and declared a "growing tendency to disobey laws that are not to their fancy."

The report said that many of those who profess agreement with the spirit of the law are the biggest violators.

Hog Show and Sale Planned For Atlanta and Moultrie

A September hog show and sale will be held this year on September 11 at Moultrie and the following day at Atlanta under the joint sponsorship of the Georgia State College of Agriculture, the Swift Packing Company, of Moultrie, and the White Provision Company, of Atlanta, it was announced Thursday.

On Wednesday, September 11, the show will be at the Moultrie stockyards and on the following day at Atlanta. This is the first event of its kind to be sponsored by the state agricultural school.

"For the past 20 years, according to an announcement from the State College of Agriculture, the market price of hogs in September has always been the highest month of the year due to small receipts of hogs at this time. The Ton Litter method of raising hogs has pointed the way for profitable hog production. To make a ton litter it is necessary to full feed the pigs for a period of six months and since lots of our sows farrow in February and March it will be seen that the six months period will be up in September during this high price season. When hogs sell for $11.52 per cwt in September and 20 days later the same grade of hogs sell for $8.11, which is a true story of a Georgia county in 1923, it can be readily seen that this show and sale is practical and will be profitable for all those who enter hogs for this demonstration."

"There is a premium list of $500 at each show, divided as follows:

Ton Litters.
First prize $75.00
Second prize 50.00
Third prize 40.00
Fourth prize 30.00
Fifth prize 20.00
Ten prizes 10.00
Five prizes 5.00

MORRIS ELECTED HEAD OF PRESS ASSOCIATION

Toccoa, Ga., August 29.—(P)—The Georgia Press Association, closing its forty-third annual convention here today, advanced to the presidency of the organization Louis L. Morris, editor of the Hartwell Sun, for two years vice president during the administration of Miss Emily Woodward, of Vienna, retiring leader.

Jack Williams, of the Waycross Journal-Herald, was chosen vice president and S. H. Hardy, editor of the Barnesville News Gazette, succeeded J. A. Howell, who asked to be relieved as treasurer.

Hal M. Stanley and C. E. Benns were again named corresponding and recording secretaries, respectively.

On invitation of Mr. Hardy, the editors decided to meet in Barnesville in 1930.

Mrs. Nora Lawrence Smith, editor of the Wiregrass Farmer, again won the trophy given by W. G. Sutlive, editor of the Savannah Press, for meritorious newspaper work during the year.

The trophy this year for her activities in connection with Turner county piling, while in 1924, the first year it was offered, she was designated the winner because of her support of a cow, hog and hen farming program.

The association completed its business sessions in the morning and adjourned to Toccoa Falls for luncheon, with a program of entertainment arranged for its final meeting tonight.

A group of speakers concluded the discussion of intricate newspaper problems at the forenoon gathering, and committee reports were heard from chairmen. Those preparing reports were Charles E. Brown, of the Cordele Dispatch, credentials; Ernest Camp, of the Walton Tribune, resolutions; P. T. McCutcheon, of the Franklin News and Banner, legislation; A. S. Hardy, of Gainesville, memorial; Milton Fleetwood, of the Cartersville Tribune News, finance; R. H. Hardy, of Barnesville, Membership.

The trophy offered by Attorney-General George M. Napier for excellence on the editorial page went to the Dalton Citizen, while the Stanley award put up by the association's corresponding secretary for the most pleasing mechanical makeup was given to the Dalton News.

Florida Solon Goes to Prison For 'Experience'

Tallahassee, Fla., August 29.—(P)—Two days of incarceration in the state prison at Hard, self-inflicted, to see what prison life looks like, has just ended in a formal "parole" from the state board of pardons to the "criminals prisoner," Senator William C. Hodges, of Tallahassee, it was learned today.

Nearly a week ago Senator Hodges visited the penitentiary with Senator T. J. Knabb, of MacClenny. Mrs. Hodges and the latter's mother, He prevailed upon Superintendent J. S. Blitch to outfit him in prison garb, place him behind the bars and permit him to breathe the atmosphere of prison life for a while.

The senator, who has probably handled more cases before the pardoning board than any other lawyer in the state, worked, slept and ate with the prisoners. He gave a cell near that occupied by Buttr Bringle, under death sentence. His cell mates were Fred Andrews, serving three years for a dual county for stealing an automobile, and Ernest Kelley, who went up for five years from Tampa for burglary.

When he tried to leave the prison the gate guard would not let him pass, until assured that he was a "trustee."

In a letter to Attorney General Fred H. Davis recounting his experiences, Senator Hodges said he had a "great time," but that he was convinced that many of those imprisoned were not any more guilty of a crime than he had been. He pleaded for pardons for his cell mates, and also for Will Stinaker, Lake county slayer, who has been in prison for a number of years for killing a policeman.

The "parole" issued by the board and duly signed by the governor and four other members, said the senator had entered to obtain money under false pretense, and that he was being released because he was "too old to work."

The senator was "paroled" to his wife, who has just advised the board that she has no more to turn him as she could do nothing with him.

O'BRIEN'S DIVORCED WIFE ENTERS SUIT FOR DAUGHTER

St. Louis, August 29.—(P)—Mrs. Hazel Brown of New York, divorced wife of Ernest O'Brien, today filed suit against the co-holder of the world record endurance flight championship for $9,300 for maintenance and support of the 15-year-old daughter.

Mrs. Brown claims the divorce was granted on grounds of desertion and non-support in 1917.

O'Brien had earnings in excess of $10,000 from the flight. He lives here with his second wife.

CARTER DEAN, U. S. CONSUL ATTACHE, HANGS HIMSELF

Montreal, Quebec, August 29.—(P)—Carter Dean, 30, attached to the American consulate at Montreal, hanged himself in his apartment yesterday and a verdict of suicide was returned by the coroner today. When Dean failed to appear at the consulate yesterday inquiries were made and in the afternoon the janitor found him hanging from a pipe on the wall.

Dean came to Canada two years ago. He had been in the consular service in Chile.

ALLEGED BOMB TRUST MEMBERS INDICTED

Chicago Official Causes Arrest of Six Men on Criminal Charges.

Chicago, August 29.—(P)—A grand jury bomb fused with six indictments sputtered in criminal court today, the state's attorney's answer to the Chicago "bomb trust."

State's Attorney John A. Swanson, himself a victim of a bomb just prior to his election, ordered the arrest yesterday of six men who he charges are leaders in the "trust" and whom he holds responsible for many of the acts of violence against persons and property in recent months.

Those named in the bills which were to be returned before Chief Justice Sullivan were:

James Belasco, designated as head of the gang, and one of those questioned in connection with the primary election day slaying of the negro lawyer, Octavius Granady, April 10, 1923; Angelo Lucchi, recently acquitted on a murder charge; Mike Casselli; Stephen Frick; the latter's 14-year-old son, Vito; and Gus Fiocca.

An undercover man for the state's attorney won the confidence of members of the gang and is reported to have purchased two bombs from them. It was largely on the strength of these purchases that the charges of unlawful possession and sale of explosives against the six men were made.

The penalty for persons convicted on this charge is imprisonment from five to 25 years.

Two other charges of bombings were made yesterday. Nathan Velson and Harlan Brown being held to the grand jury following allegations made by Brown.

He said Velson had engineered the bombing of the home of his (Velson's) brother-in-law, Philip Bloom, after the two had quarreled over division of profits in the silk business which they operated in partnership. The actual bomber, Brown said, was William Miller, who has not been arrested.

U. S. Navy Reduction Views Exchanged With British To Enable Early Agreement

Further Discussion Expected—Ratio To Be Asked Believed To Be On 5-5-3 Strength.

Washington, August 29.—(P)—The complete viewpoints of Great Britain and the United States on the problem of limitation of cruisers have been placed before the two governments, and while the differences between the two are few, will require further discussion before an agreement can be announced.

As a result of the conversations which have been going on between Ambassador Dawes and Prime Minister MacDonald ever since the ambassador arrived in London, it has been found that the two governments think alike on the question of destroyers and submarines and that a settlement of the problem of limiting these categories would present no great difficulty.

Consequently, the question of cruiser limitation is now engaging the two governments. The series of conferences which have been going on at the White House between President Hoover, Secretaries Stimson and Adams and Under Secretary of State Cotton have mainly therefore, had to do with the cruiser question.

Cables Views to Dawes. It was learned on high authority tonight that as a result of these conferences, the American viewpoint on the cruiser problem, the differences over which between the United States and Great Britain resulted in the failure of the tripartite conference of 1927, has been called to Ambassador Dawes for presentation to Prime Minister MacDonald. It was presumed that Ambassador Dawes placed the American viewpoint before the prime minister today. The British viewpoint on the cruiser problem is now before the American government.

An accord on the principles and basic factors in the problem is hoped for within a few days. All indication on the phase involving the setting of a year for the attainment of parity between the two nations point to 1936. The principle of parity, or naval equality, to be applied to the navies of the two, has already been agreed upon. It is also expected that any naval limitation agreement which would result from a general naval parity, now being tentatively discussed, will expire during that year.

Another Plan Necessary. After that time it would be necessary for another agreement for naval limitation to be entered into by the naval powers. The attitude in informal circles both in Great Britain and the United States is being generally expressed that a period shorter than that limiting construction in the treaty of 1922, signed at the Washington arms conference, should be adopted by the naval powers for the limitation of cruisers, destroyers and submarines.

It is also pointed out that the 1922 treaty expires by its own terms on December 31, 1936, and the capital ship phase could then be reconsidered along with the reconsiderations of the other classes. The shorter period of limitation, it was also remarked, gives the powers an opportunity to consider various changes in world conditions in so far as they concern their navies and to take more ready

COLUMBUS BANK HEAD SHOTS SELF TO DEATH

Chauffeur Finds Body of Henry B. Crowell in Back Yard of Home.

Columbus, Ga., August 27.—(P)—Henry B. Crowell, 58-year-old banker and for 35 years a resident of Columbus, early today shot himself to death. His chauffeur found the body in the Crowell back yard with a pistol lying nearby and a coroner's jury returned a verdict of suicide. It was believed that Crowell fired a bullet into his head about 2 a. m. A neighbor testified that he heard a pistol shot about that time. Friends were unable to explain Mr. Crowell's deed, but some said that he had been in ill health. He was a native of Alabama and had been vice president of the Columbus Bank & Trust Company here for some time. He is survived by his widow; two sons, Henry, Jr., of this city, and William, of New York city; two daughters, Mrs. Jennie Callaway, of LaGrange, Ga., and Dorothy Ann Crowell, of Columbus; two brothers, Elmer, of Sylacauga, Ala., and Charles, of Nashville, Tenn., and a sister, Mrs. W. R. Pinkston, of Parrott, Ga.

Opportunity School Opens Registration For September 9 Opening

Registration of students for the Atlanta Opportunity school, a special division of the city's public school system, now is under way at the Emory building, at Spring and Baker streets, and will continue through next week. T. W. Chitt is principal of the school, which has a staff of 14 teachers and which last year had an enrollment of 750 students. Bookkeeping, shorthand, typing, business English, arithmetic, spelling, salesmanship, commercial art, penmanship, home nursing and beauty culture are among the courses offered. All pupils who are entering Atlanta's public schools for the first time with the opening of the fall term, September 9, are required to report to the board of education building, 165 Walker street, for admission cards. It was announced Thursday by Reid Hunter, assistant superintendent of schools.

MAYOR RAGSDALE PLANS RECEPTION FOR TEXAS PARTY

Mayor I. N. Ragsdale Thursday laid plans for a reception to the Houston (Texas) delegation which will arrive here September 5 en route to the launching of the U. S. S. Houston September 7 at Newport News. The mayor declined an invitation to accompany the group to Washington and the scene of the launching because of pressure of official business, but Thursday planned to meet the train at Palmetto with a delegation of prominent Atlantans. Governor Dan Moody, of Texas, and Walter E. Monteith, mayor of Houston, will head the Texans.

NEW SUB SAFETY PLAN FOUND BY ITALIAN NAVY

Men Transferred From One Submarine to Another at 70 Feet.

Spezia, Italy, August 29.—(P)—A new way of saving crews of sunken submarines has been perfected by the Italian navy, and today the submarines F-17 Androti, at a depth of 70 feet, took men out of one and put them into the other. Italian engineers say that when a submarine sinks other submarines can approach it under water and take off the stranded crew. The experiment today was made by Commander Belloni and Da Pelo, a diver. The men entered the Connington submarine equipped with diving helmet. The ship sank to a depth of 70 feet. The F-17, a second submersible, then submerged and approached the Toti to a distance of 50 feet, then Commander Belloni and Diver Da Pelo left the conning tower of the Toti and groped their way to the F-17. They entered by means of a torpedo tube to which was attached a large steel bowl in which the air, at a pressure of two atmospheres, kept the water out.

WOMAN LEAPS BEFORE ELEVATED TRAIN; LIVES

New York, August 29.—(P)—Mentally depressed because of ill health, Mrs. William Auerbach Levy, former playwright, attempted suicide today by jumping in front of an elevated train and then, both feet amputated, dropped to the street 25 feet below. She is expected to die.

Mrs. Levy's father said she had been in ill health and on the verge of a nervous breakdown for some time. She had threatened suicide. In her pocket was a note which said: "Billy, I loved you always."

Mr. Levy, an etcher and caricaturist, had just returned from abroad yesterday. She is 30 years old and has been married ten years. They have no children.

Rabbi Tobias Geffen will open the meeting with prayer after which Governor L. G. Hardman will discuss the present crisis. The governor will be followed by Mayor L. N. Ragsdale as a representative of Atlanta's government. Clark Howell, editor of The Constitution, will discuss the situation in its relation to local and national life. Julian Boehm, Joel Dor-fan and Cantor Lipitz will give the closing appeals for their people, after which there will be general discussion as to the course of action to be pursued in bringing relief to the suffering and an end to the strife.

The calling of this public meeting followed the action of the Atlanta Zionist district, in passing a resolution, at a meeting Tuesday, asking the United States and the British governments to exert all their influence in protecting American lives and property in Palestine.

Hadassah, an organization of Jewish women which maintains hospitals, milk and food stations in Palestine, already has issued an appeal for funds to carry forward the relief work. The national headquarters at New York has communicated with the local chapter and a direct appeal has been made to all those who are desirous of quickly remedying the suffering in Palestine Jewish communities. Contributions are being mailed to Mrs. I.

M. Weinstein, 1215 Virginia avenue, and Mrs. L. J. Levitas, 888 Ponce de Leon avenue.

The Jewish-Arabian trouble struck close to Atlanta Sunday when Aaron David Epstein, 17-year-old brother of Rabbi Harry H. Epstein, of the Ahavath Achim congregation, was killed when the Arabs attacked the Hebron Talmudic academy at Jerusalem.

'PEACH ORCHARD' ROAD PAVING BEFORE BOARD

The state highway board had under consideration Thursday night the petition of a group of Burke and Richmond county citizens in respect to paving what is known as the "Peach Orchard" route from Augusta to Waynesboro as a part of the federal road from Augusta to Florida. At the conclusion of a public hearing Thursday afternoon it was announced by Colonel Sam Tate, chairman of the board, that no action would be taken until the early part of next week.

The board will study past highway laws and those just enacted by the 1929 legislature in an effort to discover what authority it has to substitute one route for another.

Paving of the "Peach Orchard" route has been a subject of litigation for two years and ultimately went to the supreme court. Richmond and Burke county commissioners, the state highway board and federal authorities agreed on the route for a paved road between the Richmond and Burke county seats as a link in a road from Augusta to Florida known as the "Woodpecker" route.

The supreme court held that construction of this route to Waynesboro constituted relocation of a road which was already on the state system and appropriating a road which was not on the system, and that its paving as a part of the state aid system would be illegal. The federal government objected to the original road, designated as the McBean route, on account of grade railroad crossings.
The enactment of the Taylor-Neill highway bill, under which 800 miles of road taken out of the state system by the supreme court was reinstated, advocates of the "Peach Orchard" route contended, makes the route now legal as a part of the state aid system.

PLEA FOR RUMMAGE IS MADE BY LEADER OF SALVATION ARMY

Final appeal for Atlanta's moving day rummage was made Thursday by Ensign Hugo Bloomberg, Salvation Army social service officer, as thousands of Atlanta families prepared to change their places of residence before expiration of leases Saturday.

The army is sending for all old furniture, old clothing, paper, rags, books and other material which will be discarded in the process of moving. Collectors will be sent on call to Ivy 2224, he said.

Response to the "moving day rummage collection" has been good during the last two weeks, Ensign Bloomberg said, but a great deal more clothing, bedding and other material will be needed to prepare the army to meet emergency appeals from the city's poor when cold weather begins.

MUNICIPAL MARKET TENANT ATTACKS ORDER TO VACATE

Notice to vacate a stall he has occupied in the municipal market for three years was met Thursday by W. D. Pope, farmer, operating as the C. O. D. Produce Company, with a temporary injunction signed by Judge Virlyn B. Moore, of Fulton superior court.

Pope presented a petition for a permanent injunction against the Municipal Market Corporation, alleging that the board of managers had sued out a dispossession warrant against him in municipal court, and that he had not violated the rules of the market and is not in default of the payment of assessments by the market. Attorney Oliver C. Hancock filed the petition.

Dixie Association of Deaf SpeECHES IN SIGN CODE THRILL CROWDS Opens Convention in City

A number of years ago five students at a Flint (Mich.) school, handicapped by deafness, were drawn together by their mutual affliction. Their association resulted in organization of a fund into which each member put $1 at certain intervals. The fund grew, and the five members grew to 75,000.

This story of the formation and development of the National Fraternity Society of the Deaf, a $1,800, 000 organization, was told Thursday to newspapermen by visitors to the second annual convention of the Dixie Association of the Deaf at the Aus-ley hotel.

The National Fraternity Society of the Deaf has insurance policies, schools for the deaf, etc. The members are all men, but women receive the benefits too. It was said that there are 450 members of the society in Atlanta.

Work of the Dixie Association of the Deaf was told to the 200 convention delegates Thursday in the rapid finger manipulation used as a sign language by natives.

An address of the association was translated into sign language for the benefit of the convention, as was also the welcome address by Walter B.
Stewart, member of the Fulton county commission. Responses to the addresses of welcome were delivered by Mrs. A. W. Pope, secretary of the Fulton Association of the Deaf, and by Odie W. Underhill, president of the North Carolina School Alumni Association.

Other Speakers.

George W. Veditz, president of the Colorado Association of the Deaf, talked on "A Dixie Federation of the Deaf," and L. B. Dickerson on "Advance, D. A. D.," at the afternoon session. The convention visitors were guests at a buffet luncheon and al-fresco party at the Atlanta Woman's Club Thursday night, through courtesy of the Nafdrat Woman's Club.

Today's program of the convention includes an address this morning on "The Co-operative Spirit," by W. C.
Fugate, of Louisville, Ky., and a report on incorporation by the Rev.
J. W. Michaels, of Mountainburg, Ark. Mrs. J. M. Robertson will deliver a recitation, "The God of Our Fathers."

A sightseeing tour to Stone Mountain and other places of interest is scheduled for 2 o'clock this afternoon.
There will be a union religious service at the Baptist Tabernacle at 8 o'clock tonight, under auspices of the Atlanta B. Y. P. U. for the deaf.
The convention will close Saturday night with a banquet at the Ansley roof garden. The banquet will be featured by a magic exhibition by Fred J. Coledre, Jr., and "Old Black Joe" by Mrs. Maxine Morris Baker.
J. M. Robertson, of Raleigh, N. C., is president of the association, and

TWO PLEAD GUILTY IN LIQUOR CASES— DRAW GANG TERMS

Pleas of guilty to prohibition charges Thursday brought chain-ganges to Nelson Frailey and James Harper, in Judge Edgar E. Pomeroy's division of Fulton superior court.
Frailey was given 12 months on each of two charges, possessing illicit distilling apparatus and manufacturing liquor, and Harper was given six months on a charge of possessing apparatus and 12 months for manufacturing whisky. The two men were arrested by county police on August 22 in a raid on a still near Adams-ville.

DR. G. W. GASQUE HEARD BY MASONS AT CAPITOL VIEW

An address on "Fellowship" by Dr. G. W. Gasque, rector of the Church of the Incarnation, was a feature of a homecoming meeting held Thursday night at the Capitol View Masonic lodge. Instrumental music by Rich's Mandolin Club and a saxophone quartet, songs by a quartet led by Arnold Smith and solos by C.
M. James and Linton S. James were other features of the program.

AS RENTAL AGENTS, the Rankin-Whitten Realty Company stands very high in the field and probably handles as many first-class apartments as any firm in the entire Southeast.

As agents of the first class they are charged by the owners with the responsibility of selecting and buying all fixtures and equipment for the proper maintenance of properties which they handle through their office.

Their buying experience is greater than that of the average merchant as they not only use their judgment in making selections but have, through their tenants, actual experience with the appliances which they purchase and have installed.

With a view to giving perfect service, together with lowest cost of operation this firm has just placed an order with us, after careful comparison and experience, for the equipping of four of Atlanta's finest apartment houses with gas ranges to meet the requirements of the different apartment units to be served.

We feel justly proud of this order, particularly as it comes from and through a firm of such wide experience in selecting equipment of this kind.

You, too, can do it better with gas

Tariff Stirs Democratic Tempest as East and South Vie To Gain Advantages

Sectional Group Places Party in Similar Position With G. O. P. Counterpart.

By GLADSTONE WILLIAMS.
Washington, August 29.—Reorganized recently on an elaborate scale with the sole object of promoting harmony in the ranks of the party, headquarters here of the democratic national committee is having its troubles, no less than its republican counterpart, in conciliating the various conflicting viewpoints on the new tariff bill.

While the republican national committee is remaining strangely silent on the row within administration circles over the scope of the new tariff bill.

is to take, democratic headquarters finds itself caught between the critical fires of the southern and eastern wings of the party.

First it was the democracy of Virginia which caused embarrassment to national headquarters by its declaration to accept financial aid in the present crucial gubernatorial campaign from Chairman John J. Raskob because of his close affiliation with the past presidential candidacy of Governor Alfred E. Smith. Old Dominion leaders who stayed put in the last campaign would not give Chairman Raskob whatever satisfaction he may be able to get from aiding in this way in the defeat of the anti-Smith candidate put forth by Bishop James Cannon, Jr., leader of the revolting democrats in the south.

But now comes criticism from a strong faction of the democratic organization of Massachusetts, one of the two eastern states which cast electoral votes for Governor Smith last November. An attack is made on the property of having J. Bennett Shouse, head of headquarters here, speak at the big democratic organization meeting in Boston September 7.

Express Southern View.
The headquarters here, it is charged, has devoted itself to expressing the view of the southern wing of the party against that of Massachusetts and New England.

So strong has this feeling developed that the Boston Post, looked upon as the democratic bible in the Bay state, describes the choice of Shouse to be the chief speaker at the rally as "hardly a happy one."

"Mr. Shouse is personally an attractive man," the Boston Post says. "But the course of the national committee under his direction (since Chairman Raskob is temporarily inactive) is not such as to commend itself to Massachusetts democrats."

Under Mr. Shouse's direction, the democratic national committee seems to have surrendered almost completely to the southern wing of the party despite the fact that northern democrats carried two republican states in New England, while southern democrats were handing over states of the south to the republican ticket.

It is the democratic attack on the tariff bill, engineered by Shouse, that the Massachusetts democrats resent.

Massachusetts wants a tariff on shoes and shoes and textiles. It comes decidedly in the industrial class in the big fight of agriculture versus industry.

The Boston Post charges that Shouse, by virtue of his bombardment on the tariff bill, has taken the side altogether of agriculture.

"He selected as his tariff spokesman," it continues, "Senator Simmons, of North Carolina, the bitterest foe of Governor Smith in the south who was virtually responsible for the anti-Smith in North Carolina, openly advising the democrats to bolt."

Tariff Favor Grabber.
"Senator Simmons, a veteran of the senate has long been known as the chief democratic 'tariff favor grabber' in the senate and has, in the past, frequently voted with a republican majority on tariff bills, after he had secured what he wanted for his state."

This attack must make Shouse realize the unpopularity of his job because it has only been a few days since Virginia democrats told him to keep out of their campaign, or rather announced that he would not be permitted to come in.

The attitude of the Virginia democrats was easy to understand. The only issue that the republican campaign coalition has against them, if it can be called one, is that of "Raskobism."

It would be suicide for them under the circumstances to let the headquarters here set up by Chairman Raskob, give them any aid or comfort.

But now Shouse has to take one on the chin from the Bay state. Both sides seem to want to kick him around.

Of course, the statement that Shouse made Simmons the tariff spokesman, is far fetched. By virtue of his being ranking minority member of the senate finance committee Simmons is the party's tariff spokesman.

Shouse's headquarters consider it quite an accomplishment some weeks back, in fact, to get a statement from Simmons. The fact that Simmons gave the committee a statement was heralded as a happy sign of the future—at least he had nothing against the headquarters and its effort to promote harmony.

Now the Bay state says in effect, why play ball with Simmons at all, why not express the view of the people who voted the democratic ticket last November? It is true, too, that Simmons enjoys the reputation of always getting what his state wants out of the tariff.

The Bay state democrats think they have an excellent opportunity of electing a United States senator next year to succeed Senator Gillette. The meeting September 7 is with a view to getting the campaign under way with rousing cheers.

3 FEDERAL EMPLOYEES CAN RETIRE ON BIG PAY

Holmes, Van Devanter and Brandeis Can Quit at $20,000 a Year.

Washington, August 29.—(AP)—Young men who aspire to quick wealth so they may retire at an early age and enjoy the fruits of their labors may obtain a lesson in service from three men on the government pay roll, all over 70 years of age, who need only to say the word to be retired at their present salaries of $20,000 a year.

The three are Associate Justices Holmes, Van Devanter and Brandeis of the United States supreme court. Holding appointments for life, apparently all intend to die in harness, so absorbed are they in the work of the nation's highest bench, for there is no indication that any of them is even considering retirement from his frequently arduous position.

Chief Justice Taft passed his 70th birthday nearly two years ago, but fails by reason of another restriction to qualify for full pay retirement. Ten years continuous service as a federal judge is required preceding the seventieth birthday, so the head of the bench will not be eligible until July 7, 1931, the tenth anniversary of his appointment.

Every chief justice since John Marshall to Taft has died in office, proving their appreciation of the position, and of these only Salmon P. Chase failed to reach the age of 70. The longevity apparently guaranteed to all who achieve the eminence is shown by the fact that the ten chief justices in the history of the court have averaged 14 years in that post.

Search of the records discloses that the instances also are few of associate justices relinquishing their positions while their health remained, and only two ex-justices now are living.

They are Charles Evans Hughes, who resigned to run for the presidency against Woodrow Wilson, and John A. Clarke, appointed to succeed Hughes, who resigned in 1922 to devote his efforts to the non-partisan Association for the League of Nations.

Oliver Wendell Holmes, now 83, the oldest man ever to sit on the supreme bench, has 27 years of service in the federal judiciary to his credit, all spent on the highest court. For 20 years prior to his appointment he was a justice of the Massachusetts supreme court, including three years as chief justice.

Next in point of service is Willis Van Devanter, of Cheyenne, Wyo., who was 70 years old in April of this year. He was appointed judge of the eighth federal circuit in 1903, and since 1911 has served on the supreme court. Justice McReynolds, next in seniority, is ineligible for retirement despite his 15 years on the supreme court, as he is but 67 years old.

Following him is the third of the trio who possess the requisites to a lifetime vacation at $20,000 annually, Louis D. Brandeis. Like Holmes, a Bay Stater, he is noted for his association with that jurist in numerous important dissenting opinions.

None of the other four in the order they ascended the bench—Justice Sutherland, Butler, Sanford and Stone—has reached the retirement age, and only one, Justice Sanford, has the required 10 years in the federal judicial service.

Atlanta Firm Secures Contract on Final Link For Memorial Bridge

National Construction Company Wins $1,000,000 Job On Arlington Span at Washington.

Information that the National Construction Company of Atlanta has secured the contract for the erection of the final link of the Arlington Memorial bridge at Washington, to cost in excess of $1,000,000, was received Thursday by John A. McDonald, president of the company. Bids for the contract were entered by practically every large construction company in the United States.

The Arlington Memorial bridge, which is to stretch over the Potomac river from the Lincoln Memorial to the Washington side of the bridge, will, when completed, be one of the most magnificent structures of its kind in the world. The total cost of the structure will exceed $13,000,000. The final link on the Arlington side, contract for which was secured by the Atlanta firm, is the most important part of the bridge.

The contract calls for the construction of 900 feet of the bridge, the water gate and the bridge plaza in front of the memorial. The water gate and plaza will constitute the approach to the memorial proper and will be in several levels.

100,000 Feet of Granite. More than 100,000 cubic feet of granite will be consumed in the construction of the link and the bridge and the plaza. Every piece of stone will be set by instrument at the finest degree of accuracy and the entire construction will be of the finest possible nature.

Work under the contract secured by the National Construction Company will be started in the middle of September and the contract calls for completion in June, 1930. Work on the other links of the bridge has been under process for two years and it is expected that the entire structure will be completed in the early summer of next year.

John A. McDonald, president of the National Construction Company, in speaking yesterday of the work to be done by his company on this magnificent memorial bridge said:

"It goes without saying that we are delighted that our bid was accepted by the government. We are now proceeding to organize the force of 150 stone setters, granite cutters and engineers, which we will put on the job within the next two weeks. In view of the importance of the project and its nature as an enduring memorial at the national capital, we are going to put on this work the finest group of construction men in the entire country."

"Outside of our delight at having made a successful bid for this work, we are glad also that an Atlanta firm received the contract, because it means that many hundreds of thousands of dollars will pass through the banking channels of the city."

While the National Construction Company was organized in 1925, being a comparatively new company, it has had a meteoric growth which is climaxed by the announcement of the securing of the contract for the last link of the Arlington Memorial bridge. The new Atlanta city hall, nearing completion, was built by the company. Some of the outstanding work it has done outside of Atlanta, includes the $1,150,000 West End High school at Richmond and the $1,500,000 high school at Miami. In addition the company has made successful bids for the construction of buildings as far north as Minnesota.

NEW FERTILIZER LAW ENDS NINE-YEAR FIGHT

A nine-year fight to secure enactment of legislation regulating the sale of fertilizers in Georgia, which culminated in passage of a fertilizer bill at the recent session of the assembly, now signed by Governor Handman, is reviewed by Eugene Talmadge, state commissioner of agriculture, in this week's issue of the department's market bulletin.

The issue was first introduced in the legislature, according to Mr. Talmadge, during the 1920 session by Representative Tom Linder, of Jeff Davis county, who offered a bill requiring fertilizer manufacturers to show the proportionate parts of organic and inorganic nitrogen used in each bag. The records show, however, that the only vote favorable to its passage was that cast by Linder himself, and at each succeeding session of the assembly a similar bill was introduced only to meet prompt defeat until this year.

Mr. Talmadge also calls attention of Georgia farmers and dairymen to a recent judgment in the federal court of Missouri against imitation butter dealers.

According to the records of the case cited by Mr. Talmadge, these dealers resisted action of the internal revenue department to collect the 10 cents per pound levy on all imitation butters, on oleomargarine. Recently, however, Judge Albert L. Reeves, of the western district of the Missouri federal court, handed down a decision dissolving the injunction filed by the dealers against the internal revenue department, and declaring that the imitation butters were subject to the tax.

The Missouri dealers, Mr. Talmadge's statement indicates, have not appealed the case, but are making arrangements at this time for a settlement with the federal department. Inasmuch as this decision will be taken probably as a criterion for the whole country, Mr. Talmadge points out that it will mean increased protection for the Georgia dairy industry.

HERO SAVES NELLIE FROM BEING TRIED ON LIQUOR CHARGE

Nellie Wright Thursday missed a possible conviction on a prohibition charge by the proverbial eyelash. And it happened in a rather unusual manner.

Hailed before United States Commissioner E. S. Griffith by prohibition agents who testified that they had found a quantity of whiskey near her dwelling place, she stoutly maintained her innocence and any knowledge of the intoxicating beverage in question. Judge Griffith was on the verge of assessing a bond when the proceedings were interrupted. The interruption proved to be Jack Clements and Henry Thomas and their presence was explained by the former. "Judge," he said, "this man ran by me last night and I asked him what the trouble was. He told me that he had hit some whiskey and that the officers had found it and arrested Nellie Wright. I told him it wasn't right to let her suffer for it and brought him on up here."

Such being the case, Nellie Wright was allowed to go her way rejoicing and Thomas was put under bond in the sum of $300.

AVIATION PROGRESS IS URGED BY DICKIE IN JAYCEE SPEECH

Declaring that business men of today must keep abreast of the times, L. P. Dickie, southeastern manager for the United States Chamber of Commerce, in an address before the Junior Chamber Thursday, cited transportation by automobile and airplane as two of the most important factors to be considered.

"Good roads are a necessity," the speaker declared, "but of even more importance is the matter of air transportation, which is growing by leaps and bounds. In this connection, landing fields and plenty of them must be constructed all over the country."

He gave figures to show the enormous growth of air mail postage since this service was inaugurated and pointed out that the railroad companies which had ignored the automobile were backing the airplane industry to the limit.

Mr. Dickie's talk was the principal feature of the program and officers of the senior chamber were guests at the meeting. Entertainment was provided by Miss Bobbie Nasworthy, talented young dancer. Gilbert W. Withers presided.

Columbia Seminary Plans Special Program To Mark Fall Opening

Devotional services and a special program at 10 o'clock Wednesday morning, September 3, will mark the opening of the 1925-26 term of the Columbia Theological seminary, of Decatur.

The program will include addresses of welcome to new students by Dr. Richard D. Gillespie, president of the school, and R. S. Lowe, president of the student body. Following the services and program will be the formal registration of students. The enrollment is expected to be larger than that of any term since the school was brought here from Columbia, S. C., three years ago.

As has been the custom for the past two years a visiting minister will conduct a series of special devotional exercises as a special feature of the beginning of the term. Dr. Henry Wade DuBose, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, of Spartanburg, S. C., will do in charge this year.

THE WEST POINT ROUTE

THE HAWK

By ROY VICKERS

SYNOPSIS

Douglas Dorling, a young British peer, is sent to Dartmoor prison on the perjury testimony of Cora Setton, an unscrupulous woman who is in love with him and whose advances he snubbed. In revenge she testifies she saw him kill a policeman during a night riot at Dartmoor. She is a famous aviatrix, but to keep this knowledge from his mother and spare her worry, he has been using an assumed name—Douglas Harris. It is under this name that he is tried and convicted.

While the convicts are at work in a quarry Douglas finds a tobacco tin containing a mysterious, unsigned note, telling him he will be freed the next day by a furniture van. He follows the directions and escapes.

INSTALLMENT V. HUSBAND AND WIFE.

In spite of his preoccupation, Dorling winced at the name of Setton—for him a name of ill omen. He was not superstitious—but he wished they had chosen some other name.

"You've been expected for the last three days but have been detained on business. Got me?" There's two warden's ahead, Mr. Arris. Just you look straight in front of you—they won't be expecting you—come in this way."

Douglas kept his eyes glued to the radiator cap. The Gunter hotel! Within a few hundred yards of the prison itself! Again he thought the whole thing a bit mad. He had thought it was a madman's plan, but he had thought it mad to attempt to escape in a furniture van—and so far at least the plan had succeeded.

"Now the prison's just around the corner," Mr. Arris, said the chauffeur. "Orders is you're to turn round and stare at it. Everybody does. It wouldn't look natural if you was to look the other way. See the idea?"

"I see the idea," repeated Dorling. "But where are the orders?"

"Ah, now you're asking," Mr. Arris! Suppose it was a rich bloke interested in your case but had tried to pull the wires and couldn't do it and so had to choose this way out of it, sir. Now you know where you are, sir."

They had taken a curve. The road now ran through a wood, then abruptly gave out to the cross roads lay ahead with the Gunter hotel on the right hand side of the road. Dorling could count five wardens with their carbines, less than a hundred yards distant.

"Oh, I forgot! You're got a wife?"

"A wife?" echoed Dorling. "That's right! That's 'er—standing in the middle of the porch there. See? She's waving 'er—and you'd better wave back and take off yer 'at when we get close."

"All right!" Part of the madman's plans. He glanced at the woman without interest. They were drawing nearer the corner of wardens.

"I shall 'ave 'er run close up to 'em to make the turn," said the chauffeur in an undertone. "Don't look at any of 'em straight in the eye—case one of 'em knows you."

The car swept round within five yards of the corner and then drew up by the terrace porch of the Gunter. Dorling had moved his eyes from the radiator cap, and fixed them on the woman, who, in furtherance of the unknown madman's plan, must pretend to be his wife. Then he knew that sensation of nervous dread that makes the victim feel as if his blood had frozen.

"Take off yer 'at, Mr. Arris!" whispered the chauffeur, and mechanically he obeyed.

"Hello, dearest! What a pity you didn't come before! You've missed three most perfectly gorgeous days."

Cora Setton! The woman who in cold malice had struck him down. What a fool he had been not to guess it when he had been told that his name was to be "Setton." The sight of her noted upon his nervous system like a physical blow. For an instant hatred glowed red hot, and was as instantly extinguished by the numbing shock of her presence. He sat in the car, limp, inert, barely conscious even of the corner of wardens a few yards behind him.

She held her cheek for him to kiss, but he could not do it. His brain, he suspected, was playing him a trick. It was as if Cora herself spoke in his ear. "Surely, you will not kiss her, Douglas!"

"Pull yourself together, for Gawd's sake!" whispered the chauffeur.

It was Cora, he understood dimly, who pulled him together. She had got over the difficulty of the kiss by pretending she had received it. She opened the door of the tourer, and caught at his sleeve.

"Come along," she ordered, and he obediently got out of the car. Lethargy had descended upon him again, and it was easy to obey orders.

"Poor old boy, you're absolutely tired out! I guessed you'd overwork if I left you alone. But I know what's good for you." She turned to a man who had come out of the porch whom Dorling realized to be the manager. "Please send some tea to our rooms at once—strong tea," she said, and added, to Dorling, "You'll have a cup of tea and then lie down until dinner."

Under cover of the affectionate gesture of an anxious wife, she gripped him by the arm and led him through the hall and up the staircase. Their progress was slow. He was shaking at the knees and twice missed his footing, but she steadied him. The porter followed closely on their heels with luggage.

"These are our rooms—I hope you'll like them. Personally, I think I was very lucky, as we've got the best suite in the hotel."

She opened the door of a sitting room and motioned for Dorling to enter. Over her shoulder she addressed the porter:

"Put my husband's luggage in the dressing room, please." Dorling trod cautiously, clumsily. So deeply had prison life bitten into him, that in six short months the feel of carpet under his feet had become unfamiliar.

In his dazed condition he had the unbelieveable luxury—yet six months ago he would have seen it as an absolutely conventional sitting room in a country hotel. Cora urged him into an armchair. Then with a quick, gentle movement, she removed his hat.

"Why didn't I take off my own hat?" he asked himself dazedly. "I suppose I have gone mad—and I'm really breaking that stone with my pick. Or perhaps I'm in hospital. No—I'm not mad. I've been like this before."

Like most aviators, he had more than once experienced the nervous sensation that sometimes follows upon the strain of a prolonged flight. He did not know it, but while he wondered about himself his eyes had closed and his head had lolled back on the armchair.

"Or, poor boy! I had no idea it would be like this!"

Cora was bending over him, bathing his forehead with eau-de-cologne. It soothed him. Her touch was gentle and practiced.

"In a minute," he thought, "I will ask her why she gave false evidence against me. I must remember not to get angry with her. I must be very calm. But I'm not ready just yet. It will be better not to think about her at all."

He closed his eyes to shut her out, and opened them again as there came a knock on the door and an elderly waiter came in with a tray. Dorling, in that state of nervous collapse, was capable of forgetting to take off his hat when entering a sitting room, but there were some things he could never forget. His practiced ear caught a sound that momentarily galvanized him.

"Hello!" he exclaimed sharply. "There's some one 'up.' I didn't hear anything about it." The waiter sat down the tray with a clatter. "He's coming over," cried Dorling. "Devilish hot, too. I should say."

He saw that Cora looked frightened, and wondered why. Then it was that both she and the waiter caught the sound that he had been the first to hear.

"Or, sir, that's an airplane," said the waiter, who had waited all his long life in a country hotel. "There's one of them convicts escaped, sir. I thought I might have seen some of the nates as you come along."

"Escape in an airplane!" muttered Dorling, vaguely. "How could he? The plane has come from Plymouth, I should judge."

"That's about the size of it, sir. But it's not 'im that's in it, but it's 'is that's looking for 'im." Cora managed to get the man on the other side of the door, and shut it.

"I understand," said Dorling. "When he said 'an escaped convict' he meant me. He's looking for me. 'Darn funny, that! Fancy being an escaped convict yourself and forgetting all about it!'"

"Awful funny," echoed Cora, humoring him. "But don't speak quite so loudly, there's a dear."

Miss Bishop Weds Walton Lanier.

Bremen, Ga., August 29.—The marriage of Miss Faye Elizabeth Bishop, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Bishop, and Walton Lanier was solemnized with exquisite beauty last Saturday afternoon at four o'clock at the Bremen Baptist church. Rev. J. V. Hambrick performed the ceremony in the presence of a gathering of relatives and friends. The church was effectively decorated; deep green palms, ferns and luxuriant foliage plants and interspersed amid the greenery were tall floor baskets of golden glow and snow on the mountain foliage. Gracing the altar were slender white tapers burning in silver candleholders, which rose from a bank of ferns and cast a soft illumination over the beautiful scene.

Miss Beulah Maud Golden, pianist, assisted by George Holden, violinist, rendered a program of nuptial music including the bridal chorus from "Lohengrin" which was used for the entrance of the bridal party, and "Mendelssohn's" marriage music was played as a recessional. A selection from Grieg's "Wedding Day" was played softly during the ceremony.

The matron of honor was the bride's aunt, Mrs. Robert L. Wade, of Atlanta, who was gowning in a fashionable eggshell chiffon and she carried an arm-bouquet of yellow roses. The group of bridesmaids included: Miss Louise Marchman, Mrs. Frank Miller, Miss Marie Belle Russell and Miss Mabel Esterkin. They all wore gowns of chiffon organdie in pastel shades, made alike, with ruffled skirts, very long in the back and gracefully draped bodice. They all carried arm-bouquets of beautiful flowers tied with tulle. Little Martha Thewatt, niece of the bride was the flower girl and wore a dainty dress of green organdie and carried a basket of rose petals. Little Betty Sue Steele also niece of the bride, was ringbearer and she wore a dress of pink organdie and carried the ring on a white pillow.

The lovely blonde bride wore an exquisite gown of white satin-back crepe trimmed with handsome rose-point lace, the hem line was uneven, being extremely long in the back and the long tight sleeves added a note of stately dignity. The bride's blonde hair was adorned with a bandeau of orange blossoms and she carried a bouquet of brides roses, showered with valley-lilies.

Mr. Lanier had for his best man his brother, Willis Lanier, of Atlanta, the groomsmen and ushers included: Don Howe, of Tallapoosa, Frank Miller, Murmon Bell, Bernard Lanier, brother of the bridegroom, James Maughans and Raymond Otwell.

Mrs. Bishop, mother of the bride wore figured chiffon and her corsage was of roses. Mrs. Lanier, mother of the bridegroom was gowning in beige tulle.

Among the out-of-town visitors attending the wedding were: Mr. and Mrs. R. D. Lanier, of Statesboro, Miss. Miss Bertie Lanier, of Atlanta; Mrs. J. E. Worthington, of Philadelphia, Penn.; Mrs. Frank Steele, of Birmingham, Ala.; Mrs. Pearl Brooks, of Atlanta; Mrs. Dillard Buckner, of Birmingham, Ala.; Mrs. Lane Thewatt, of Eastaboga, Ala.

Mr. and Mrs. Lanier left immediately for an automobile trip along the coast stopping at Wrightsville Beach and other points of interest. On their return they will make their home in Corinth, Miss. The bride attended Friends' Central school in Philadelphia, Penn. Mr. Lanier is a graduate of Georgia Tech and a member of the Theta Chi fraternity.

MISS JULIANNE HAGAN WEDS MR. GARLINGTON

Quiet Ceremony Unites Popular Belle And Atlantian

Mrs. Lee Hagan announces the marriage of her daughter, Julianne, to Thomas Richard Garlington, the ceremony being quietly solemnized yesterday at high noon at St. Luke's Episcopal church on Peachtree street before members of the immediate families of the bride and groom. Rev. Ernest Risley, assistant rector of the church, performed the impressive Episcopal ceremony, after which Mr. Garlington and his bride left for a motor trip to Canada, stopping en route for a few days at Asheville, N. C.

Mrs. Frank Williams, the bride's sister, and Julius Garlington, the groom's brother, were the only attendants. Mrs. Williams wore a costume of brown crepe with a brown felt hat. Her shoulder bouquet was of sunset rosebuds and valley lilies. The beautiful young bride's costume was fashioned of bottle green crepe worn with a smart felt hat to match. A shoulder garland of green orchids and valley lilies completed the modish ensemble.

Both the bride and groom are representatives of prominent Georgia families and are popular members of Atlanta's younger society. The bride is the younger daughter of Mrs. Hagan and the late Lee Hagan, who was numbered among Atlanta's most beloved and influential citizens. She attended Washington seminary and St. Mary's school in Raleigh, N. C., after which she traveled extensively in Europe. She is a member of the Phi Pi sorority and, although she has never made a formal debut, she has enjoyed extreme popularity in Atlanta and other cities where she has visited. Mrs. Frank Williams, of this city, is the bride's only sister and Harold Hagan is her brother.

Mr. Garlington is the son of the late Dr. and Mrs. T. R. Garlington, of Rome, Ga., and a brother of Julius Garlington, of this city. The groom is a graduate of the Riverside Military academy and the Georgia School of Technology, where he was a popular member of the Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity. He is prominently identified with the city's social and business circles, being associated with Adams-Cates Realty Company and a member of the Capital City Club and the Nine O'Clocks.

On their return from their wedding trip, Mr. and Mrs. Garlington will make their home with the latter's mother, Mrs. Lee Hagan, on Springdale road in Druid Hills.

Mrs. Threadgill Entertains at Home.

Mrs. Nelsman Lamar Threadgill, of 219 Superior avenue, Decatur, Ga., was hostess at a tea Tuesday in honor of her sister, Miss Anne Nolan, of Oklahoma City, and Miss Lorraine Dehart, of Chicago, Ill., the guest of Mrs. Vail Dunham.

"Musical Drama" To Be Given.

A musical drama will be presented this evening at 8 o'clock by the Epworth League in the Hapeville auditorium. The program includes vocal solos by Bradley Willard; readings by Mrs. Thomas Lewis and Hawaiian music by a troupe of five.

Miss Mamie Banks Weds Mr. Freeman.

A marriage entering the interest of numerous friends is that of Miss Mamie L. Banks to William Reid Freeman. Owing to the illness of the bride's mother the ceremony was quietly performed last evening at 8 o'clock at the home of the bride's nephew, Mr. and Mrs. L. R. Wright, 862 Vedado way, N. E., by Rev. Homer Thompson, of Trinity Methodist church, with only the immediate family present. Mr. and Mrs. Freeman are prominently identified with church, social and business circles in Atlanta, both serving at the present time on the official board of Trinity Methodist church. The bride is a woman of much culture and charm.

Mr. Freeman is originally from Troup county and West Point, and is connected with Freeman, Parker and Law, the Foot Health Shoppe. Mr. and Mrs. Freeman are at home at 608 Cumberland road, N. E.

Miss Wilkerson Honors Visitors.

Miss Henrietta Wilkerson was hostess at a bridge-ten yesterday at the East Lake Country club, complimenting her guests, Miss Inez Mann and Miss Elizabeth DeMilly, of Tallahassee, Florida. Assisting in entertaining was the hostess's mother, Mrs. J. M. Wilkerson.

The guests included Misses Brownie Carmichael, Lucille Wilson and her guest, Elsie DeLoach, of Savannah; Lucile Buchanan, Emily Harold, Elizabeth Sheldon, Evelyn Floyd, Emily Hensley, Vivian Anderson, Peggy Barrington, Dorothy Pegram, Alice Barola and Mrs. Frances Davis.

Miss Elizabeth Perdue Gives Luncheon.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

"I have been taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to build me up and for the Change of Life and I can't get along without it. I lost about twenty pounds and I felt weak and run-down. I find it gives me strength and quiets my nerves. I have two daughters and I gave it to them when they came into womanhood and was greatly pleased at the results. I will answer any letter asking for information."—Mrs. L. E. Hanson, Waterloo, Iowa.

Business Women's Club Co-operates With National

At the executive board meeting of the Business and Professional Women's Club Wednesday evening at the clubrooms, 131 Forrest avenue, it was voted to recommend to the members that the Atlanta club co-operate with the national federation in its move for "business reciprocity." By this is meant the patronage of women by women, as advocated by the former president of the federation, Miss Lena Madison Phillips, of New York. By this plan, each member of the local club will select five women whose product or skill she considers worthy of the patronage of her friends and will systematically promote these for a period of three months. That every member may be familiar with each other member and know just how she may help promote her line of work, each person will be asked to give an outline of their business or profession and tell in what way the club might cooperate with them.

Miss Lucienne Alexander was elected corresponding secretary to succeed Miss Mayna Graham, who will be in Miami Beach for an indefinite period. Miss Gladys Tingle Taylor was elected to membership. Miss Ada Booth made a report on the progress of the fund given by the State Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs, and named for the honorary national president.

Plans for a series of parties to be held this Wednesday in each month were outlined by the program chairman, Miss Rebecca Shuman. At these parties two of the older members and four new ones will be in charge. The first, September 16, will be held at the home of Miss Lucienne Alexander and Miss Lena Thompson in Inman Park.

After the board meeting an informal reception was held in honor of Miss Jane Mayo, recording secretary, whose marriage to Dr. E. T. Morgan will be solemnized September 4. In appreciation of her work in the club, Miss Mayo was presented handsome silver. Several members who had been out of town were present at this meeting, including Mrs. Annie W. Richards, Miss Mamie Allen and Mrs. Blanche S. Rich.

Miss Hardman Weds Mr. Merritt.

Mrs. Valeria C. Hardman, of Roswell, announces the marriage of her daughter, Bertha Mae, to H. K. Merritt, of Roswell, the ceremony having been performed August 24.

Miss Grace England Is Honor Guest.

Miss Jewell Brooks entertained yesterday at the Green Coffee Shop in Decatur with a miscellaneous shower for Miss Grace England, bride-elect of September. The guests were entertained by two appropriate contests, and Misses Annabel Cain and Grace England were winners of the prizes. Mrs. A. N. Burnham won both consolation prizes. The color scheme was green and white was carried out in the decorations.

After the contests delightful refreshments were served. Those invited were Miss Grace England, Miss Annabel Cain, Mrs. Charles Kendrick, Mrs. A. N. Burnham, Mrs. W. O. Brooks, Mrs. Ruby McClain, Miss Jeannette Burnham, Miss Vera Berry, Miss Lucile Whitworth, Miss Helen Johnson, Mrs. Constance Lawler, Miss Lola Hinton, Mrs. Carl Ferrin, Miss Annie Mann, Mrs. Emory Tolson, Miss Ruth Brooks, Mrs. Louise Coker, Mrs. Almira Smith, Miss Sara Pierce, Mrs. Le Belle Broughton, Miss Christine Pierce and Miss Jewell Brooks.

Mr. and Mrs. Palmer Celebrate Anniversary.
Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Henry Palmer celebrated the silver anniversary of their marriage at a lovely reception last evening at their home on Brine street in West End. The house was decorated with baskets and vases of garden flowers. In the dining room the color scheme was pink and white. The lav-covered table held a large silver vase of roses and four silver candlesticks with pink tapers. Silver dishes contained mints and nuts and the tea were in the shape of wedding bells. Punch was served from a decorated table by Miss Evelyn Barnett and Mrs. Leola Wheeler. Miss Velma Bennett kept the guest book. The gifts were on display in the den. Music was rendered by a quartet composed of Messrs. Walter Thomas, Cook and Thompson, accompanied by Mr. Stroud.

Mrs. Horace Clark Honors Daughter.

Honoring her daughter, Miss Helen Pendleton Clark, whose marriage to Ralph Lee will be a forthcoming event of interest, Mrs. Horace E. Clark entertained at a luncheon Thursday afternoon. The guests included Misses Sarah Cassels, Sarah Perry, Mildred Swann, Charlotte Murphree, Helen Clark and Mesdames Walker Bowen, Ralph Allison, Frank Browder, Luther Watson and H. E. Clark.

BEAUTY FASHIONS

A PRETTY EVENING GOWN.

6541. As pictured the waist portion and drapery are of tulle adorned with rhinestones, and the flounces are of tulle over satin or tulle. The long waist portions form the skirt and flounce (which are mounted on the skirt) at a split curve in front, and in straight outline in the back. The neck opening is round and low in front; in the back it is U shaped. The pattern is cut in six sizes: 34, 36, 38, 40, 42, and 44 inches bust measure. To make the dress for a 38-inch size will require a 3-4 yards of 39-inch material. For waist and drapery of contrasting material 2 yards will be required 27 inches wide. The width of the foundation skirt, at the lower edge is 1-2 yard. The width of the lower flounce is 2-4 yards with fullness extended. Pattern mailed to any address on receipt of 10c in silver or stamps.

BURGESS CHILDREN'S STORIES

SOMETHING DOES HAPPEN.

By Thornton W. Burgess.

Look for trouble and you'll find it. Also sorrow right behind it. Mother Nature.

Bowser the Hound, watching Flip, the little terrier, jumping around Jimmy Skunk and barking at him in the most impudent manner, had made up his mind that something was going to happen. He knew just exactly what would happen if Flip persisted.

Jimmy Skunk paused and looked hard at Flip. Jimmy wasn't accustomed to being treated in this manner. No, sir, Jimmy wasn't accustomed to being treated in this manner. Flip became more excited as if he intended to seize him and shake him to death. If this was what he had in mind he changed his mind. He stopped abruptly right in front of Jimmy.

"Go away, you noisy fellow," said Jimmy Skunk. "I don't like the noise you are making."

"Let's see you stop me!" barked Flip.

"If you don't stop bothering me I'll make you change your tune," declared Jimmy.

At this Flip barked harder than ever and pranced back and forth in front of Jimmy. Jimmy started on. Flip kept just in front of him. There was an ugly sound coming into Flip's voice now. Jimmy Skunk noticed it.

"That fellow's getting ready to rush me," thought Jimmy. "I'll give him just one more chance. I don't want to make trouble unless I have to. There's Bowser the hound looking on. I can see him grinning. He knows what is coming to this young upstart."

Bowser was watching Jimmy Skunk's tail. He saw the big plume lifted high and higher. The tip still hung down, however. Bowser kept his eyes on that tip.

"Yes," said Bowser to himself, "something is going to happen. I'm sorry for Flip. But he's got it coming to him. It is the only way he'll ever learn. Just the same I'm sorry for him and I think I'll warn him."

So Bowser started a warning to Flip. "I wouldn't meddle with that fellow," said he. "You'll be sorry if you do."

"I'll shake this fellow to death before you can wink an eye," barked Flip in reply.

"Haven't you noticed that he doesn't run from you and that he doesn't seem afraid?" Bowser asked.

"It's because he doesn't know enough," retorted Flip. And this time, with an ugly growl, he made a very decided rush at Jimmy Skunk.

But he didn't reach Jimmy. Bowser saw the tip of that tail rise and then something happened to Flip so unexpected that Flip didn't know what had happened, only that he was choking and his eyes were smarting so that he couldn't open them. How it had all come about Flip didn't understand. He wasn't barking now. He was yelping. He rolled over and over and over in the grass. He rubbed his face on the ground until it seemed as if he would run the skin off his head. He felt very, very sick.

As for Jimmy Skunk, he went right along about his business, just as if nothing had happened.

STIMSON SILENT ON NAVAL PLANS AS SESSIONS END

Washington, August 29.—(P)—Secretary Stimson announced today that the phase of the naval discussions which necessitated a series of conferences between President Hoover and state and navy department officials during the past three days had been completed.

He declined, however, to reveal the nature of the matters which had been considered.

In commenting on reports from Tokyo that the Japanese were contemplating a supplementary naval program, the secretary said that while this development must be considered he could not foresee any way in which it would affect the Anglo-American negotiations which have been going on between Ambassador Dawes and Prime Minister MacDonald.

Mr. Stimson said he expected to leave late today for his home in New York for a week-end visit.

LINE EXTENSION REACHES FLORIDA ON FLORIDA ROUTE

Albany, Ga., August 29.—(Special).—Eight construction gangs, of about 10 men each, from the American Telephone Company and four crews, employees of the Southern Bell Telephone Company, will make Albany their headquarters for several months, it was announced yesterday by P. J. Nix, district manager. This large working force will be engaged on an extension construction program just begun by these two companies.

Because of the great number of long distance calls which are handled each year between the Florida winter resorts and New York city, it has become necessary to increase the long distance facilities between these points. Many of these calls come through Albany, and this city has become an important toll center.

CO-OP MARKETING PLAN IS SOUGHT BY TRUCK GROWERS

Quitman, Ga., August 29.—(Special).—Growers in the Quitman district will meet at 2 o'clock Friday afternoon at the Chamber of Commerce to discuss plans for organizing a co-operative marketing association for their fall and winter truck crops.

The county agent and others have secured information and gone into the plans and points of organization and the matter will be gone into in a practical manner. The Brooks county exchange and others are co-operating with the county agent and the farmers in this movement.

Southeastern Swimmers Open Two-Day Meet at East Lake Today

STRONG FIELD WILL COMPETE IN A. A. U. SWIM

Many Crack Swimmers
Entered in A. A. U. Competition Here.

With every state in this district well represented, the annual outdoor swimming championship of the A. A. U. of United States, will take place today and Saturday on the swimming course at East Lake Country Club. Entries were being received late Thursday afternoon and officials of the program expect it to be the best in the history of this district.

Teams from all parts of the southeastern states have already arrived and Charleston, Atlanta, Rome, Chattanooga, Memphis, Birmingham, Pensacola, Athens, Charlotte, Asheville, Montgomery and Savannah will be well represented.

Doonan in Charge.
Al Doonan is in charge of the events and will be assisted by Bernard N. Neal, chairman of the Southeastern association swimming committee; Theo Staff, Camp Walton, Fla.; George Griffin, Chattanooga, Tenn.; and E. W. McClure, Memphis, Tenn., all members of the committee.

Other local assistants who will officiate at the course are: Coach W. A. Alexander, of Georgia Tech; Steve Hartney, Scrappy Sullivan, Joe Bean, William Murray, Hal Morris, Rufus Bass, Tick Tuleen, Russell Grove, Bill Street, J. H. Bayless, Ed Hamm and Hal Barron.

All entries in the trial heats are requested to be at the course at 9:45 o'clock this morning and report to the clerk, Frank Kopf. The 50-yard free style, 100-yard back stroke, 50-yard junior women, 140-yard junior men, 100-yard free style, 100-yard junior men, 100-yard junior men, 220-yard junior men and 100-yard breaststroke events will be included in the trial heats.

There were more than 125 entries when officials checked up late Thursday night, including many women swimmers from all sections of the southeast. Notable among the women entries were those of Dorothy and Ruth Elberfeld, from Chattanooga, Tenn. They are former members of the famous Elberfeld girls' basketball team and are daughters of Kid Elberfeld, former Southern league baseball manager.

The Winnepusaukee Swimming Club, of Chattanooga sent a strong team down and will work out on the course during the day in preparation for the senior events, which will take place Saturday.

There will be two separate and distinct meets in determining the association champion. All women's events will count toward the women's championship and all men's events will count toward the men's honors. Points in all events count five for first place, three for second place and one for third place, except in the relay where first place gets 10 points, second place six points, and third place two points.

Winners' Medals.
Championship medals will be given the winners of the first three places in each race and trophies will be given to the teams winning the two meets and the relay race. Four trophies and 99 medals will be given to winners in the various events.

The Atlantic Athletic Club team has won the men's end of the meet for many years. It took the supremacy in this division when the southeastern association was first formed and they have not been beaten since that time. Pensacola is reputed to have a great collection of men swimmers and worked out on the course Thursday afternoon.

In the women's events Atlanta Athletic Club has not been so fortunate. Virginia Ashe has been the only woman swimmer Atlanta has been able to place in the championship events until two years ago when Betty Burch came along and last year Mable Stanton was added to the list. Miss Ashe.

Swim Marathon Booked Today

Toronto, Ont., August 29.—(United News)—After repeated postponements through temperatures too low for comfortable swimming, the $25,000 Wrigley marathon for men and women was today declared officially on for tomorrow over the fifteen-mile course in Lake Ontario.

Approximately 275 swimmers are expected to start the long grueling swim, including George Young, of Toronto, who won the Wrigley Catalina Island marathon; Ernest Vierkötter, German long distance swimmer, who won the present event in 1927; Norman Ross of Chicago; Bill Erison of New York; Dave Billington of England; and two women aquatic stars, Ruth Towler formerly of New York, who finished second in the women's 10-mile event last week, and Mrs. Evelyn Armstrong, of Detroit, who came in third in the women's race. The latter was a last minute entrant.

Atlanta Fans Pay Fine for Burrus

Tubby Walton, Frank Darnell and Frank Mullens, Cracker baseball fans and hat boys, took up a collection in the seventh inning of the Memphis-Atlanta game Thursday for Dick Burrus, to help pay his fine. Burrus was fined $40 and indefinitely suspended by President John D. Martin for participating in a pop-bottle shower in Memphis Sunday. A total of $37.75 was raised.

Ed Danforth

Someone has said that Yale's coming to Athens will set a precedent that will result in more eastern and western teams tilting on southern grids.

Without detracting in any way from the significance of Yale's visit to Athens, unprecedented from a Yale standpoint, it is better said that Yale is following a trail blazed years ago.

In the pre-war era Ohio State came south to play Auburn. The University of Pennsylvania played Georgia Tech in Atlanta during the war. Rutgers and Penn State also invaded Grant field in the early years of the Alexander regime. Notre Dame is making its third trip to the Flats this year.

Michigan came to Nashville in 1922 to open the Vanderbilt stadium in a major inter-sectional contest.

It is then, no new thing for eleven from north of the line to fling their banners under a southern sun. The list above is given with no effort at completeness; enough examples are mentioned to prove the point.

The point is that Yale, always committed to a policy that kept the Bulldogs playing within the Big Three, has yielded to the democratic attitude of the younger but equally vigorous western teams. Yale's visit to Athens may encourage Harvard and Princeton soon to bring their teams down here for games.

Three Big Invasions.

The 1929 Yale team offers several inter-sectional games of prime interest. The University of Pittsburgh, Jimmy DeHart's Alma Mater, comes to Durham October 5 to help Jimmy's Duke eleven dedicate a fine new stadium.

Notre Dame plays Tech in Atlanta again November 2. Oregon sets the season record in traveling by hopping to Miami December 7 to play University of Florida.

These three games stamp the 1929 season as the most brilliant in recent inter-sectional history.

Courtesy to the Enemy.

It is a pleasure to note again that football has been debunked to an extent. No longer are athletic rivals bitter enemies. Friendly gestures abound where once fists were brandished and ancient hatreds burned.

These bromide lines are inspired by glancing through the files for a matter of old records. They are former members of the famous Elberfeld girls' basketball team and are daughters of Kid Elberfeld, former Southern league baseball manager.

Once scouts were ridden out of town on a rail when they came in to spy on football. They were forced to sneak in disguised in a clean collar and sit obscurely in the bleachers to take their notes under cover of a raincoat.

Now Duke university has built a special enclosed box for visiting scouts. That is just another step in the general hospitality extended to scouts everywhere on the day of a big game.

In the coaches' office one finds scouts congregating and gossiping; they are shown a painful amount of courtesy now instead of the sharp edge of an oak fence rail.

Hit Hard and Smile.

As an additional mark of good feeling in football these days, North Carolina State and Washington and Lee are playing their game, originally scheduled in Raleigh October 5, a day earlier and will be guests of Duke next afternoon at the Pittsburgh dedication game.

Georgia Tech is playing its North Carolina game on Friday before the Georgia-Yale game mainly as a mark of courtesy to Georgia. For the same reason Auburn is playing Florida the night before the Yale game and both teams will attend the Athens dedication via special trains.

Days when natural rivals were kept apart by hot-headed collegiate quarrels have gone—harmony reigns everywhere, save in the camps of Auburn and Alabama where the old feud still swings on rusty hinges.

Football coaches and fans, as well as players, have learned how to hit hard and smile.

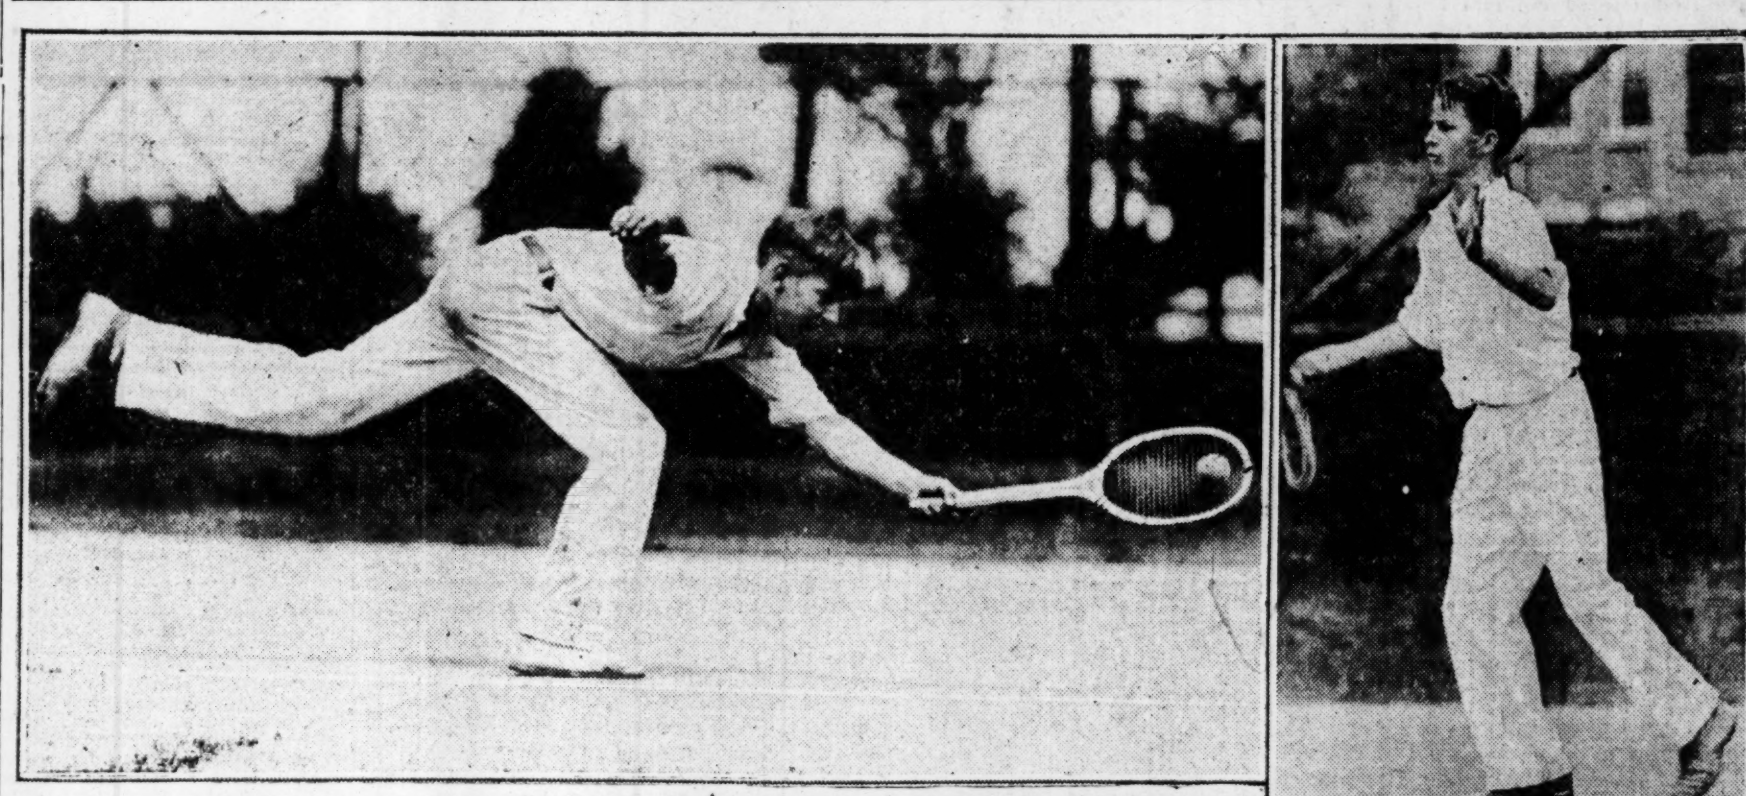

Johnny Dawson Quits Amateur

Del Monte, Cal., August 29.—(AP)—Formal withdrawal of one of the outstanding contenders for the National Amateur Golf championship, Johnny Dawson of Chicago, was announced tonight.

Dawson's withdrawal caused something of a sensation because it avoided possible issue over his amateur status, as a result of his business connection with a New York sporting goods firm.

All Athens Awaits Day of Yale Game

Beautiful New Stadium Ready for Dedication October 12—Mehre Must Use Sophomores.

By Ralph McGill.
Athens, Ga., August 29.—(Special)—Georgia's early-season opponents need not feel hurt if the Bulldogs go about their business in a somewhat matter-of-fact manner.

Athens is waiting for October 12 and the afternoon when the Blue of Yale streams out on the field in their first appearance on a Southern football field. Georgia's football season will date from that day.

That much was apparent here this afternoon. Georgia's magnificent stadium, one of the most beautiful of all the stadia that dot the nation, is practically ready for the big drama. The curving sweep of the concrete is all set. The stadium lies in a natural amphitheater. At one end is a crest of Georgia pine. At the other is the green of the old battlefield.

TURF GOOD.

Green turf covers the great floor of the stadium. Workmen are busy putting the final touches on the walks and terraces. The turf is young yet, but it is getting thick. There will be no games played on it until Yale comes. It will be ready then to withstand the tear of cleats.

This stadium, they say, is the realization of a great dream which the alumni have nursed for years. It was worth waiting for. There is not one more beautiful or efficient than this one which the Georgia Bulldogs will dedicate on October 12.

H. G. Stegeman, director of athletics; Harry Mehre, head coach, and Frank Thomas, assistant, showed the 45,000 of the faithful faithful pride. They must send a team into action this year which will include eight sophomores but they are ready to start Monday. They believe they have a chance to take Yale over the jumps. They know they will have a hard-working fighting team.

ONE BACK RETURNS.
Mehre is looking forward to the opening of the football practice Monday with a great deal of suspense. He has no idea what his varsity lineup will be. But one regular returns from all the 1928 backfield squad. Benny Rothstein is a good football player, a young man who likes to hit a line. There are two or three substitutes returning. But the backfield must be built from the freshmen graduates.

There will be some veterans in the line, but Mehre declares that eight of his eleven men will be sophomores. He must really build his team from the foundation on up. It is a difficult task the Georgia coaches face, one that might deter less determined men. Their schedule is a difficult one for sophomores to face. But Georgia is looking ahead. The football season begins October 12, when the blue of Yale takes the field.

Babe Herman Is Seeking $100,000.
Nashville, Tenn., August 29.—(AP)—A dizzy Southern league ball player and now the leading bidder in the National league, is after a $100,000 salary next season. Which would indicate that the Babe is still a bit dizzy.

Brooklyn won't pay it. The salary retrenchment plan is supposed to be in vogue next season. The Flatbush team has made no great amount of money this season. They won't listen to any such demands from the Babe. Not hardly.

The Brooklyn management is still ranking from the flop of Dizzy. Wine landed only a few blows on Stribling, who danced gracefully around the "Montana Blacksmith" and delivered an occasional punch which did little damage.

A red nose and a slightly damaged eye to Wine was the only damage of the night.

In the fifth round Stribling's right leg slipped through the ropes after Wine tapped him on the shoulder. Later Stribling knocked Wine off balance.

Three preliminary bouts were equally as uninteresting. It was the first fight Nashville has had in many months, and the customers were disappointed when all four bouts failed to produce a knockout or even a knock-down.

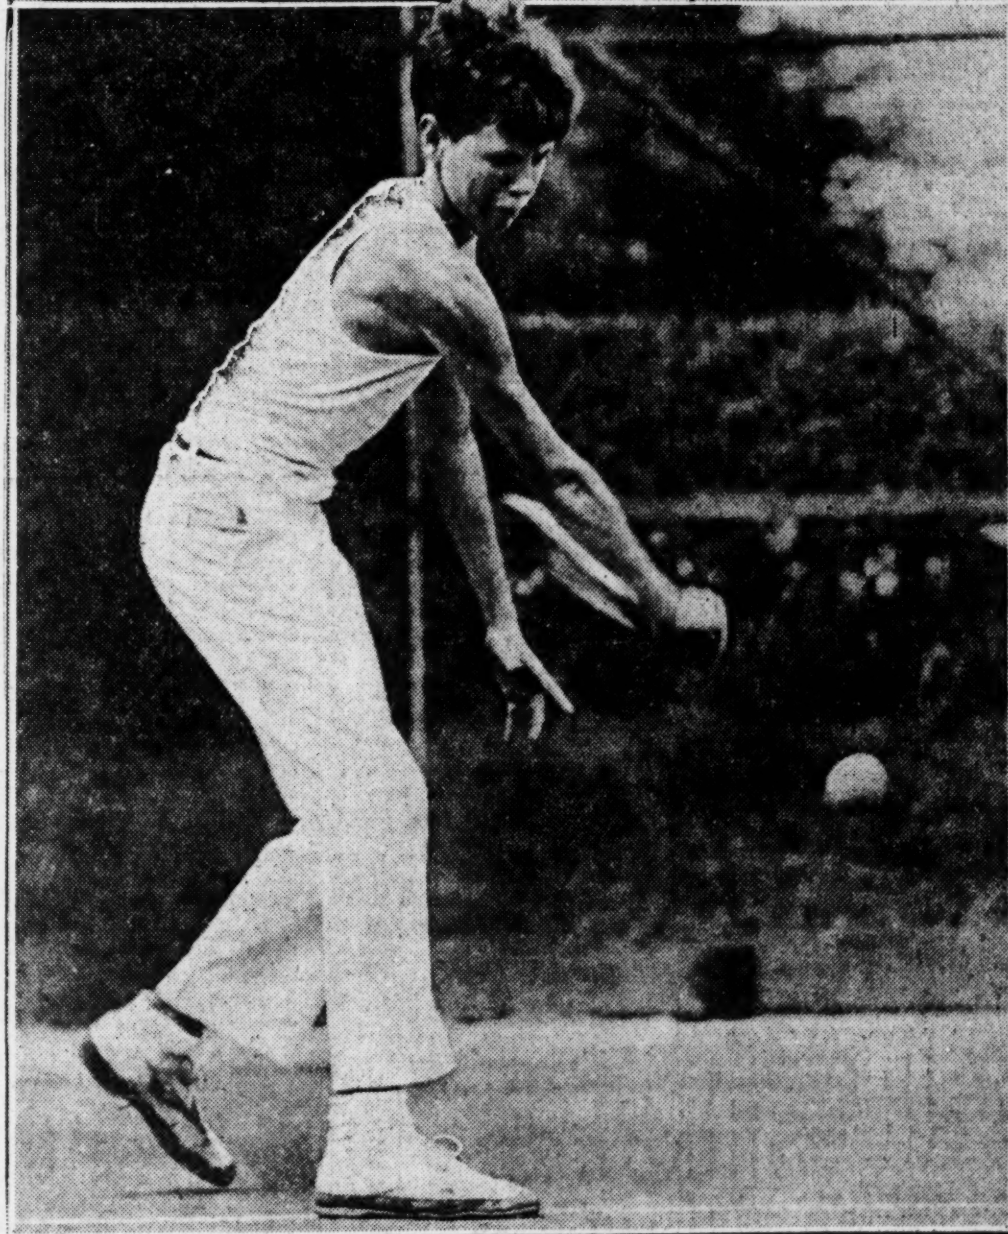

Stegeman To Write Football for You

H. J. Stegeman, director of athletics at University of Georgia and member of the football rules committee, will write two articles a week during the football season for the Atlanta Constitution.

Stegeman is an experienced writer. He has written articles on football for years for newspapers and magazines. Back of his ability to write entertainingly are 13 years rich in experience in southern football as head coach and as athletic director at the university.

Stegeman's articles will be timely and will concern conference football of the moment. In scouting and officiating, Stegeman sees nearly all the leading conference teams in action. Unusual plays and expert comment on big games will furnish him his material.

STRIB DEFEATS FRANKIE WINE

Nashville, Tenn., August 29.—(AP)—W. L. (Young) Stribling, Macon, Ga., heavyweight, easily won an eight-round bout here tonight from Frankie Wine, of Montana. Stribling was given the decision of Jake Abel, referee. The fight was listless.

Wine landed only a few blows on Stribling, who danced gracefully around the "Montana Blacksmith" and delivered an occasional punch which did little damage.

A red nose and a slightly damaged eye to Wine was the only damage of the night.

Game of Season; Kelly Loses Hard One.

Climax Blethen, Cracker hurling ace and leading pitcher of the league, turned in his 21st victory of the season Thursday afternoon at Spiller field when Atlanta defeated Memphis, 5 to 4, in a hard-fought game. The defeat checked the Chicks' drive for third place in the league race and was a true grudge battle.

Both teams were fighting with blood in their eyes and vengeance in their hearts, because of a feud started Sunday in a pop bottle shower in Memphis. Dick Burrus, Cracker first baseman, was the only target for the Memphis police and he was arrested and released after posting a $50 bond. He was later indefinitely suspended by President John D. Martin and his mates were probably thinking of his absence from the game Thursday, which spurred them on to victory. It also cost Memphis another game in the league race.

Although the fans booed Manager Prothro every time he came to bat and in every play he made there was not the slightest bit of disorder in the game. The Memphis team fought as it has never fought on Spiller Field this season and there was every evidence in its play that the team is striving for pennant honors.

FINISHING TOUCHES.

Bob Parham and Lopez supplied the finishing touches to the game. Parham's home run on top of the right field bank in the seventh, that scored Cullop and Lopez ahead of him, placed the Crackers one run to the good. Memphis forged into the lead in the eighth with two markers and Atlanta retaliated with two in the last half of the ninth.

Cullop doubled to start the rally. Lopez doubled when Ferrell went to the bank to knock down his long fly, but could not hold it and Cullop romped home with the tying run. Remembering Parham's hit in the seventh, Harry Kelly gave him four wide balls and a free ticket to first base. Lopez cut down at second base in a double play.

Atlanta secured only five hits off Kelly, but four of those five accounted for five runs and the other was cut down at second base in a double play.

CHICKS WILT.

Memphis had a decided advantage in the hitting, but could do nothing in the pitchers' box. Lee Kelly scored a triple and a single, while Kelly contributed two hits to the cause. Sensational fielding on the part of Engle, Chick shortstop, and Jones, Sheehan and Cullop, for Atlanta, enlivened the game considerably. Cullop had a busy day roaming all around in center field. He made several spectacular catches after long, hard runs.

There were only nine runners left on the bases, four on Atlanta's side and five for Memphis, another proof of the excellent pitching exhibition put up by Kelly and Blethen.

Memphis scored in the second inning after losing an opportunity in the opener, when the bases were filled and no outs. Engle walked and stole second. Berger flied out to Lee Kelly scored. Engle with a single to left field. Another was added in the sixth, when Jones hit into the colored stands in left field.

CRACKERS SCORE.

Atlanta scored three in the seventh on Cullop's walk, Lopez's single and Parham's home run. Atlanta's other two came in the ninth on Cullop's two-base hit, Lopez's double play, Sheehan's steal of third base and a perfectly executed squeeze play by Haley, on which Lopez scored.

Memphis scored its final two runs in the eighth. Tangeman doubled. Brazil was an infield out and Tangeman scored on Jones' triple to center. Jones scored on a sacrifice fly to Leslie.

Manager Good will probably send Oldham at the Chicks this afternoon in an effort to make it two straight.

Bryan Grant Advances to Semi-Finals of Georgia State Net Tourney

Hard Play Marks Champion's Match

Defeats Billy Armstrong in Three Tough Sets; Jack Mooney, Bryan Win.

By Herb Clark.

Bryan Grant, Atlanta's defending champion in the Georgia State net tourney, went through his hardest match thus far in gaining the semi-final round over Billy Armstrong, Thursday, also of Atlanta. Armstrong's game was of the best, and it was only after three long sets that Bryan came safely through to continue as defender of the title.

Grant took the first set somewhat easily at 6-2, and started off in the second to look good for another of his straight-set run-away victories. Armstrong closed rapidly, however, and turned the tables on Grant at the same score.

In the third set Armstrong played super-tennis to win the first two games. The count was even at two all and, after Billy had taken his own serve, Bryan raced to a 5-3 lead. Armstrong won his own service again, but Grant did likewise to take the set and match.

Grant meets Wilmer Hines, the Columbia (S. C.) net ace, in the semi-final round today. Hines advanced by a straight-set victory over Jack Simpson, Atlanta. Simpson pushed to the fore in the early games, but Hines came back strong to take the first set at 7-5 and the second at 6-2.

In the other bracket, Jack Mooney, Atlanta, and "Lefty" Bryan, Chattanooga, will face each other this afternoon. Mooney was extended to his limit to take the measure of James Halverstadt, 6-3, 3-6, 6-0. Halverstadt weakened in the final set after battling hard for the first two, and Mooney, with his shot well under control, ran out the match.

WORMSOME CHOP. "Lefty" Bryan had difficulty with the perpetual chop sent back at him by Halverstadt, of Atlanta, but, after dropping the first set at 6-8, solved the problem to take the second at 6-1 and the third at 8-0 to win his way back to the semi-finals.

The junior singles division also reached the semi-final round, with two of the contestants in the men's play, Wilmer Hines and "Lefty" Bryan, slated to battle it out for the title. Hines is the present champion. Hines defeated Billy Reese, of Atlanta, after a long battle of the backhands, 12-10 and 15-11. He meets Judge Heaver, of Gainesville, who eliminated Lenoir Wright, of Wilmington, 6-1, 6-4, today. Bryan scored straight love set victories over Monroe Leboeuf, of New Orleans, to win the right to face James Halverstadt, of Atlanta, today. Halverstadt won from George Boynton, of Atlanta, at 6-3, 6-4.

Caldwell Russell, of Louisville, will meet George Boynton in the finals of the boys' singles division Saturday. "Peter Rabbit" Russell defeated Eugene Ray, Jr., of Acworth, 6-0, 8-10, 6-1, while Boynton was downing Peyton Lacey, also of Atlanta, 6-0, 6-1.

DOUBLES PROGRESS. Play in all doubles classes is progressing, and the final rounds are slated for Saturday. Gus Feuer, Miami, and Maurice Bayon, New Orleans, are the defending champs, had little trouble in advancing over Harry Gault, Atlanta, and Judge Heaver, Gainesville, 6-2, 6-1.

Beatrice Bryan, of Enterprise, Miss., seeded number one in the women's singles division Saturday. Ella Cox, of Asheville, the titleholder, won her way to the finals in this class as she downed Marjorie Hale, of Atlanta, 6-0, 6-1, and Phoebe Rhitt, also of Atlanta, by the same scores. Ella Taylor, Atlanta, meets Florence Bryan, Atlanta, in the other semi-final match. Finals play is scheduled for Saturday.

EMMETT SPICER ADVANCES TO MEET

Advances to Quarter Finals of Tennessee State Golf Tourney.

Memphis, Tenn., August 29.—(AP) Emmett Spicer, of the Belle Meade Club, Nashville, who defeated Harry Graham, of the Inglewood Club, Nashville, and Tom Johnson, Chattanooga, with four Memphis players—Tom White, Hunter Phillips, Eddie Halbach and Rogers Parker—make up the quarter final fields in the Tennessee state golf tournament.

The eight emerged from two rounds of knock-out which swept into the discard today the hopes of the sharer with Spicer of medal honors, two former state champions and 21 others who qualified for the championship division.

Spicer, defending titleholder, romped through his first round of match play with a 6 and 4 victory over Joe Johnson, Jr., of Nashville, and in the second round won over Wes Goyer, Memphis, 6 and 5.

Darden Hampton, Chattanooga, who tied with Spicer for low qualifying score—73—went out in the first round before 14-year-old Sundry Horner, of Nashville, 1 up. The Nashville lad, in the second round, tied with Spicer, Eddie Halbach, a Memphis municipal player, 2 up.

Louise Montelongo and Chastain Harris, both of Memphis, were the two former titleholders who failed to survive today's play. Montelongo was eliminated by Alvin Graham, left-handed Nashville youngster, in a grueling 19-hole match and Harris faded from the picture in his second round match with Tom Johnson, Chattanooga Country Club, Johnson won 4 and 3.

Albert Wheeler, Nashville, who defeated Spicer in the quarter tournament this year, was among those who met defeat in the first round today. Rogers Parker, of Memphis, took him into camp, 2 and 1.

Alvin Graham had the only extra-hole matches of the day. After his 19-hole tussle with Montelongo he was taken the same distance in the second round by Perry Parker, of Memphis. He beat Parker on the nineteenth by sinking a 20-foot putt for a birdie three.

His match with Montelongo ended when he made an easy four on the bye hole while the Memphis player missed a four-footer for a half.

In tomorrow's quarter finals Spicer will meet Johnson, Halbach meets Unter Phillips, of Memphis; Stacey Graham is matched with Alvin and Rogers Parker with White and Graham.

The Golfers' Thoughts

Golf Thoughts En Route to Pebble Beach.

On the road to Pebble Beach, where the flying eagles swoosh, and a squawk comes up like thunder when the hole gets out of reach.

If there is any gray hair in the still somewhat youthful scalps of Bobby Jones and George Von Elm the same will be due to heavy brooding over the two eighteen-hole matches they will have to handle next Wednesday.

A young man by the name of Jess Sweetser is not to be taken any too lightly. He happens to be so adjusted that the stronger his opponent the better he is almost sure to play. He can outstick glue.

In looking over the list no one has been able to discover the entry of the golf champions of Patagonia and the Fiji Islands. But practically every other champion is here.

Other Random Thoughts En Route. Caddie—Any small boy keenly interested in everything except where your wild hook landed.

Fairway—A green but largely uninhabited strip of turf running from tee to green.

The golfer, as a rule, gets as good a caddie as he deserves to get. Most of the time even better.

There are ten times as many bad golfers as there are bad caddies. The caddie is the camel of golf. You know how much fun the game would be if his tribe suddenly became extinct. He's a pretty useful institution to conserve, protect and develop.

The main trouble in golf is getting the two hands to work with any team play. Often they don't speak. The left hand frequently doesn't know what the right hand is thinking about.

The right hand, usually being the stronger member, wants to take control. This is wrong.

You hear a lot about the most important stroke in golf. Drive, approach, putt—that's not.

There is only one important stroke in golf. There is only one stroke you must think about, consider, ponder over and plan, to the absolute elimination of everything else. It is the only stroke that matters a half whoop in Helloland, and that is—

The next stroke you have to play. If at first you don't succeed try looking at the ball.

It is much simpler and easier to hit the back of the cup on the nineteenth hole.

Eat, drink and be merry, for tomorrow you may be off your game again. He who swings and lifts his head will say things better left unsaid.

About one party in a million can hit with any force when off balance. About two million golfers try to—without success.

One of the main features of balance is correct use or transference of weight.

Due largely to the existence of human nature in bulk, 98 per cent of all who play golf will remain in the duffer class, which is somewhere beyond 100 for the round.

There are many reasons for this dip into depression. In the first place, the average human being lacks the patience needed to practice the kind of swinging long enough to have it become instinct or second nature.

The average human being is still wondering, as he hits his putt, what the right line is and how hard he should hit. He is still wondering as he plays his approach whether he can carry that bunker or whether he is using the right club.

Suppose you picked up a fork and thought consciously of the right way to hold it.

Then of the correct tilt of the elbow—

And finally of the proper procedure necessary to place it in your mouth.

There would at least be a fair chance of impaling your upper or lower lip, especially if you jabbed as you do with a golf club.

or muscle memory.

The golf club is almost exactly the same. You must first learn how to swing, and through swinging practice make it all instinct, or muscle memory.

Florida Fans Living For Oct. 19 and Tech

'Gator Supporters, With Irrepressible Enthusiasm Have Already Won Tech Game.

By Ben Cochran.

Enthusiasm probably has misled more people than a designing blonde. In the fall of each year, when the football fever spreads, the wave over the country, millions of people tumble to the luring smile of the siren, enthusiasm, and get themselves into jams from which extrication is difficult.

They make foolish bets. They get the idea that some small team is going to run roughshod over a larger and more powerful one. Of course, it sometimes happens, but then 8 to 1 shots sometimes gallop home at the races.

Probably, outside of the movies, the most enthusiastic race of football fans inhabits that strange section of the country known as Florida. To even think that any team can defeat Florida is treason. If one should make so bold as to publicly state that he thought Florida would lose, he would be a traitor to his state.

TECH GAME WON. Already the boys down there have won the Tech game. They'll come rolling into the city tomorrow night with their dusty cars bearing Florida license tags, Florida colors and Florida money. They'll parade up and down the city streets probably with an alligator or two in tow, waving the folding money in front of your eyes. And even if Florida has lost every previous game, these lads will offer you Tech and points. They got that way selling real estate a few years ago. It's a sort of optimism complex they have acquired.

Last year Florida ranted around among some of the south's lesser colleges and rolled up a great lot of points. Then it met the real Georgia Bulldogs and whipped it. They were writing letters to the sports editor in Gainesville about a national championship.

Then Florida, with some fast backs, a good punter and a fair line, went up in the Tennessee mountains for Thanksgiving and received a shock of its life. The Tennessee Vols, stolid mountaineers and fundamentalists, refused to be frightened by an amazing number of points scored and its unimaginative line stopped the 'Gators.

The score was 14 to 13. It was a good football game. But, of course, down at Florida, that has been forgotten. Being young they live in the future. So now they're waiting for Tech. Maybe they'll take the Jackets. But they're sure of it down there. Someone who has just come from down that way tells me that if the 'Gators fail to beat Tech this fall the state will be in worse shape than if struck by hurricane.

Florida made it interesting for Tech a few years back. There were those two years that the games were played. And you always know, by the quantity of noise when Florida is in town, it's a colorful and amusing outfit.

TILDEN, HUNTER BEATEN AGAIN

Lott and Doeg Conquer Veterans To Gain National Doubles Finals.

Brookline, Mass., August 29.—(AP) George M. Lott, Jr., of Chicago, and his hard-stroking southern partner, Johnny Doeg, of Santa Monica, Cal., defeated Big Bill Tilden and Frank Hunter for the second time in a week here today in the semi-final round of the forty-eighth national doubles championship.

The young players polished off the veterans, the 1927 national champions, in an extra set match, 7-5, 6-3, 3-6, 6-3, in the first clash, last Friday in the Newport Casino tournaments final round, they won in straight sets, 6-4, 6-2, 6-4.

Tilden played his usual brilliant game but Hunter gave a much better performance than he did in the Newport match and this improvement forced today's match into an extra set.

Other Finalists. Berkeley Bell and Lewis N. White, both of Austin, Texas, became the other finalists by conquering W. F. Coen, Jr., of Kansas City, and Harris Coen, Jr., of Des Moines, Iowa, 7-5, 3-6, 6-3, 6-1. The victorious teams will play for the national title Saturday.

Doeg started with a bang by serving a long game, forcing Tilden into three nets. The lanky ex-champion evened matters by holding his first service, despite a double fault.

Tilden used his terrific "cannonball" service throughout the entire match, but it was not speedy enough to bother Lott and Doeg greatly, as they broke it twice.

Though Tilden outplayed Hunter by a wide margin, the point analysis revealed that he had 33 errors to the latter's 20. Lott had 31 and Doeg 41 but most of his were neutralized by the Davis cup players' brilliancy.

L. R. Hunter Trims Scott Hudson, 1 Up

Former Jaycee Champion Scores Upset in Tumbling City Golf Medalist on 21st.

L. R. Hunter, popular West End golfer and former Junior Chamber of Commerce champion, furnished the first upset in the city tournament today when he defeated Scott Hudson, Jr., a medalist, 1 up on the 21st green.

Hudson was tied with Julius Hughes, Druid Hills Club champion, for medalist honors, which will be decided Sunday morning. The winner will receive a large silver trophy.

Hudson was one up at the sixteen (16)th hole, but lost a stroke and giving Hunter an advantage which won the eighteenth hole and squared the match. The nineteenth and twentieth were squared and Hunter won a long perfect drive went one up when he sank a long putt, after a nice approach shot.

Another of the feature matches of the championship flight was played between Julius Hughes and John Grant, Jr., popular Capital City Club player. Hughes jumped into the lead in the first round and settled down to a steady game on the back nine.

CLOSE MATCH. In the seventh flight J. C. Brown and David J. Walker played a close match which ended with Brown one up. A dispute arose over the outcome and after a conference with the tournament committee it was found that a rule of match play had been violated. Another conference will be held this morning and the winner will be matched with C. D. Kimbro at 8:20 o'clock.

The seventh flight results proved to be closer than any of the others. Two matches were defaulted, another ended 4-2 and five ended one up.

An unusually large majority of the matches in all of the flights ended in one or two hole margins and the remainder of the play is expected to produce some excellent golf.

Will Gunn, Jr., defeated C. O. Murphy, 6-5; Chick Ridley defeated C. G. Warren, one up; C. F. Strickler defeated J. C. Ison, 5-3; J. P. Barnes, a municipal player defeated Richard Hickey, one up; and Fred Minnich defeated Ben D. Williams, 1 up.

In the other matches of the championship flight:

Results of other matches follow:

SECOND FLIGHT. Henry Fullbright defeated C. D. Gurr, 1 up; J. C. Brown defeated J. C. Strickler, 1 up; J. C. Strickler defeated J. C. Ison, 5-3; J. P. Barnes, a municipal player defeated Richard Hickey, one up; and Fred Minnich defeated Ben D. Williams, 1 up.

THIRD FLIGHT. Fred Pao defeated J. C. Strickler, 1 up; J. C. Strickler defeated J. C. Ison, 5-3; J. P. Barnes, a municipal player defeated Richard Hickey, one up; and Fred Minnich defeated Ben D. Williams, 1 up.

Violent Finale To Career Of Dick Gregg Brings Death To Two Officers and Bandit

Three-Way Gun Battle Results as Tulsa Officers Attempt To Take Notorious Outlaw.

Tulsa, Okla., August 29.—(P)—The colorful career of Dick Gregg, notorious outlaw of the southwest, was ended abruptly today in a gun fight on the outskirts of Tulsa, which also claimed the lives of two Tulsa county patrolmen.

Ross Darrow and Link Bowline, the officers, lost their lives in an effort to bring to justice the man wanted for a number of bank robberies in Oklahoma and Kansas. One of them was killed after Gregg himself had been mortally wounded.

The shooting occurred at the edge of Tulsa on the Sand Springs highway. The two officers, who apparently were expecting Gregg along, met him face to face, with a companion.

A woman who witnessed the shooting said that Gregg brought his automobile to a stop and one of the officers jumped to the running board of the car while the other started to turn the officers' machine around and drive up alongside the fugitive. The officer covered Gregg with a gun but Gregg whipped out his pistol and shot him down.

Just as the shooting started the other officer drove up and opened fire on the bandit, who returned the fire before falling. Both fell, dying. Gregg's companion fled when the shooting started, but was arrested a short time later by a city motorcycle officer. He said his name was Bob Dyer, 25 years old. He was held in the county jail but was too drunk to give officers a satisfactory explanation, authorities said.

Gregg and the two officers were rushed to a hospital, but all were dead upon arrival.

Gregg was being sought in connection with the holdup of the Peoples State bank at Wichita, Kan., July 26, and the robbery of at least three banks in Oklahoma.

Gregg escaped from the Osage county jail at Pawhuska in 1927, after being taken there from the Kansas state penitentiary to testify for the state in one of the Osage Indian murder trials.

Darrow is survived by his widow. Bowline leaves a widow and three children, one of them about six months old.

WALTER CAMP, JR., RUTH ELDER WED

Bride Gained Fame as First Woman To Attempt Airplane Flight Over Atlantic

New York, August 29.—(P)—Walter Camp, Jr., president of Inspiration Pictures, Inc., and Ruth Elder, flyer and motion picture actress, were married at noon today in the municipal chapel by City Clerk Michael J. Cruise.

A clerk and a stenographer were present as witnesses.

Miss Elder, looking tired and nervous, refused to talk to reporters. Camp, when asked where they intended to spend their honeymoon, said: "That's my business."

In their joint application for a marriage license, Miss Elder described herself as the defendant in an action for divorce granted in Panama in June, 1928. She did not give the name of her former husband, Lyle Womack.

She drew a line through the space where the applicant's occupation is described, gave her age as 24 and her address as Beverly Hills, Cal. She was born in Annapolis, Md.

Camp's age is 38 and his birthplace New Haven, Conn. He is the son of the late Walter Camp, famous Yale football coach, and Alice Sumner Camp. In his application he wrote he has been a widower since 1928.

Miss Elder arrived here yesterday from Cleveland, where she had participated in the women's air derby. In a brief interview she said that Camp had asked her to marry him by flying it was too much of a strain for her, and she said she had promised to do little flying in the future.

Mr. and Mrs. Camp will spend their honeymoon touring the United States—by auto. They met this summer in California, and Camp proposed at Santa Monica, Cal., at the start of the women's air derby, in which she was a contestant. She gave him her answer that night by telephone at the end of the first day's derby lap.

THIRD MATRIMONIAL VENTURE FOR RUTH. Annapolis, Md., August 29.—(P)—Ruth Elder's marriage today to Walter Camp, Jr., in New York, was her third venture into matrimony.

She was divorced from Lyle Womack, Panama salesman, a year ago, following her memorable attempt to cross the Atlantic by airship. Previously she had been divorced from Claude E. Moody, whom she married in 1924, and who is now a postal clerk at Jacksonville, Fla.

Miss Elder is a native of Annapolis and her parents reside here.

Notice. The firm of Ed & Al Matthews, 158 Elwood Avenue, N. E., has been dissolved. Ed Matthews, retiring, and Al Matthews, succeeding, assuming all obligations of the business and continuing at the same location.

FOUR MENTIONED FOR PRESIDENCY OF SCHOOL BOARD

With announcement of George W. Powell, for the past two years president of the Atlanta board of education, that he would quit his post at the regular meeting of that body September 10, speculation in board circles was rife as to whom the board will select as its presiding officer for the remainder of the year.

Several members of the board feel that Dr. McIntosh M. Burns, vice president, should be elected, while others mentioned for the position include Mrs. Annie T. West, commissioner from the eleventh ward; James W. Maddox, of the fifth; John T. Hancock, and W. W. Gaines, from the eighth and ninth wards.

The board will elect a successor to Mr. Powell from the ninth ward to serve until the general election to be held December 4.

CLAIM OF BARLOW IS INVESTIGATED

Secretary Stimson Sends Special Envoy to Cuba To Investigate Case.

Washington, August 29.—(P)—The case of Joseph E. Barlow, American resident of Havana, who is pressing property claims amounting to $9,000,000 against the Cuban government, is engaging the active attention of the state department.

Secretary Stimson, who already has devoted more personal attention to the case than to that of any other American investor abroad, has sent a special envoy to Cuba to investigate the claims, which were pronounced just by a senate foreign relations subcommittee last year after an investigation.

Barlow's release from jail where, it was announced in Havana, he was sent two days ago on a charge of grand larceny, was regarded here as alleviating the immediate situation, but pressure for a settlement of the case is expected to continue unabated.

Before learning of his release Chairman Borah, of the foreign relations committee, sent a request to the state department to continue the investigation.
